BATLAD'S WINGS CLIPPED

Danny Devlin is only 5 years old, and Batman is his hero. The lad found out that it takes more than arm-flapping to fly like the caped crusader. While playing Batman with neighborhood youngsters in Carmichael, Calif., Danny jumped from a playhouse roof and tried to fly. The result was two broken arms and a grounded Batman.

Protesters Call Ky U.S. Puppet

Saigon (AP) — Anti-government agitation spread Tuesday to students in Saigon. Demonstrators here accused Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky of puppet-like subservience to the United States and called for peace in Viet Nam.

Students in a technical school banged their desks and shouted with delight at every verbal sally in the first such school demonstration in Saigon during the current political crisis.

The capital rocked Monday to the thunder of a U.S. B52 raid on a mangrove swamp 18 miles away. The Stratofortresses unloaded 50 tons of explosives, cutting a mile-long path of devastation in support of a Marine operation to make the Saigon River safe for shipping.

Student leaders at the meeting in Trung Tam Ky Thuat school on the western edge of Saigon announced that more schools would join a mounting protest against the Ky government.

One student speaker complained that Viet Nam is "too subservient" to the United States. In a reference to the Honololu conference of Vietnamese and U.S. leaders, he said:

"President Johnson invited Gen. Ky on one day and on the next day our leader is already in Hawaii. He showed too much haste. Then, when he came back, he signed away large parts of our country as military bases for 99 years."

There had not been any report of any signing of 99-year or other leases for U.S. bases in Viet Nam.

Other high-flying saturation bombers from Guam hit Viet Cong strongholds close to the Cambodian border, continuing the almost daily strikes against the enemy in South Viet Nam's deep jungles. Two new strikes 70 miles northwest of Saigon were aimed at an area believed to be Viet Cong headquarters.

All-Jet Service

Lisbon (AP)—Portugal's national airline, TAP, says by the summer of 1967 it will be the first European company with all-jet service. The airline says it will have spent $53 million on expansion since 1962 by that time.

India Education Trust Proposed

Washington (AP)— President Johnson proposed Monday night a $300 million foundation to promote learning, advance science and encourage research in India.

In a toast at a White House dinner honoring India's Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, the President proposed launching an Indo-American foundation much like the Ford and Rockefeller Foundations.

Johnson said the funds would be in Indian currency owned by the United States. These rupees were accumulated in payment for U.S. wheat and agricultural products sent to India

For Young Minds

Johnson expressed hope it would be "a lasting endowment for the benefit of inquiring young minds in the Indian nation." He proposed it as one means of bringing a closer union between the two countries and mark this visit of the prime minister, who arrived Monday.

Full details of the proposal have yet to be worked out, White House spokesmen said, and it will require approval of both the Indian government and the American Congress.

White House sources said Mrs. Gandhi had been consulted and is agreeable to the basic outlines.

Mrs. Gandhi is in Washington for two days of meetings with Johnson. They began their talks in the White House Monday morning after the Indian leader was welcomed on the White House south lawn.

Good, Gracious Friend

Johnson welcomed Mrs Gandhi as "a good and gracious friend" and said the United States values deeply the friendship "of both India and Pakistan."

Mrs. Gandhi said in her arrival speech that "India and the United States cannot and should not take each other for granted or allow their relations to drift."

Words On Nik, Stalin Expected

. . . CHINESE STAY AWAY

Moscow (AP) — The elite of the Red-ruled world — except China — assembled Monday night in damp, foggy Moscow to hear the latest Soviet policy lines on Stalin, Viet Nam and other communist problems.

Policies of the Soviet Communist Party will be laid down at a congress beginning in the Kremlin Tuesday. Approximately 5,000 party delegates, representing more than 12 million members in Russia, a nation of 232 million, are expected to approve their leaders' lines without significant questioning.

Leonid I. Brezhev, party first secretary, will make the main policy report at the opening session. Premier Alexei N. Kosygin will speak later on economic development plans for the next five years.

Stalin, Nikita

According to Communist sources, Brezhnev will mention briefly both Josef V. Stalin and Nikita S. Khrushchev.

A re-evaluation of the Stalin period has been under way in an effort to show that, despite Khrushchev's harsh criticism 10 years ago of the Stalin era, some good was achieved then.

The present Soviet leaders have a personal interest in this since they were making their reputations then.

There are indications, however, that the re-evaluation will go beyond salvaging some good from the period, also quietly decreasing mention of the crimes Khrushchev charged to Stalin. But at home and abroad, some Communists have raised voices in protest to any softening of criticism of the late dictator.

Informed quarters expect denunciation of U.S. policy in Viet Nam to be a drumbeat theme of the congress. Brezhnev probably will hit the subject hard, and visiting delegations from foreign Communist Parties are likely to mention it, too.

But there are no indications that the Moscow-Peking dispute, which involves Viet Nam and other issues, is scheduled for much discussion. The Soviet line has been one of calling for Communist unity.

'Enemy' Treatment

China rejected an invitation to the congress. It accused the Russians of treating China as an enemy, so how can it "be expected to attend your congress?" Pro-Chinese Communist Parties of Albania, Japan and New Zealand also rejected invitations.

But the Chinese made no public attempt to restrict the freedom of those parties which have tried to balance between the two communist giants.

North Viet Nam sent its party first secretary, Le Duan, and so did Romania, Nicolae Ceausescu. North Korea sent a lower-ranked group.

Other leaders here from communist countries are Todor Zhivkov of Bulgaria, Armando Hart d'Avalas of Cuba, Walter Ulbricht of East Germany, Janos Kadar of Hungary, Umzhagin Tsedenbal of Mongolia and Aleksander Rankovic of Yugoslavia.

Delegations from more than 40 other Communist Parties and a handful of other Marxist parties were also on hand.

Luigi Longo, leader of Italy's big Communist Party, described the absence of Red China representation, as "grave." On leaving Rome for Moscow, Longo said:

"The absence of a Chinese delegation in Moscow is grave because it expresses the desire of that country's Communist Party to reject contacts with the other Communist Parties of the world at a time when this is more necessary than ever in view of American imperialism in Viet Nam."

Job Corps Sponsors Expect To Sign Pact About April 15

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Nebraska sponsors of the proposed Job Corps center at Lincoln Air Force Base expect to sign a contract with federal officials about April 15, and hope to take possession of LAFB facilities in late May or early June.

"The big question mark will be working out the details of the lease satisfactorily and soon enough to permit us to get on the grounds in time to get ready for the Corpsmen," according to J. O. Grantham of Omaha.

Grantham, manager of long range manpower planning for Northern Natural Gas Company, is director of the proposed urban center for men.

Negotiations

Lease negotiations involve the City of Lincoln, the General Services Administration, the Department of Defense and federal Job Corps officials—but not Northern.

Lincoln is one of only two new centers which the Job Corps plans to activate this year, Grantham said.

Radio Corporation of America (RCA) signed a contract last week to open a center at Camp McCoy in Wisconsin.

Prime Contract

Northern will operate the Lincoln center as prime contractor in association with the University of Nebraska.

The LAFB center is still scheduled to become operative in August, Grantham said, and should be "fully operative" by late October or early November.

Grantham met in Washington last Friday with federal Job Corps officials to discuss preparation of LAFB buildings and grounds for the center and to confer about details regarding information required for contract negotiations.

Finalizing Budget

Northern's Job Corps team is now finalizing the Lincoln budget, forming the subsidiary corporation which will operate the center and accepting applications for employment at the base, Grantham said

A teaching staff will be recruited nationally, he noted, but most support positions are likely to be filled locally or from this region.

Some staff will come from Northern and the University, "and hopefully many who now hold similar positions at the air base will stay with us," Grantham said.

Job applications are being filed and a personnel system is being organized, he noted.

Moving Quickly

"We are moving along quickly on all fronts," Grantham said, "and, if no big obstacles develop, we should be in position to sign a contract about April 15."

At that point, "we will move into an extensive recruiting program and into the modification and preparation of shops and buildings at the air base," he said.

A Northern task force is preparing a schedule for modification bids and contractor operations at the base, Grantham said.

Council Postpones Vine, South Work

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

The City Council Monday postponed authorization of the Vine St. and South St. improvement projects in the wake of a lively public hearing at which more than 50 property owners and residents along the two arterials voiced opposition to design features urged by the Public Works Department and City Traffic Engineer Robert Holsinger.

At question is the widening and resurfacing of Vine from 16th to 36th, plus work on intersections at 27th and 33rd, and South from 8th to 33rd, with major improvements scheduled for the intersection at 27th, from Franklin to Sewell.

Although most agreed that the costly widening and resurfacing work is a necessity, those appearing were unanimous in opposing the planned construction of raised, concrete medians scheduled for portions of both projects.

Cut Through Traffic

The medians would cut off through traffic on several streets and deny left-turn access to many businesses on both routes.

As a concession to business Comstock said he will propose that medians be broken at one block intervals and left-turn "stacking" lanes be installed.

The council scheduled a special meeting for next Monday morning to see if the project designs can be modified. To be considered:

—Whether raised medians can be broken effectively within block intervals.

—Whether painted medians will work in place of the proposed concrete, raised types.

—How the acquisition of additional right-of-way for widening will effect property owners.

Consistent

Attorneys representing interests on No. 27th and on South were consistent in telling the council that solid medians "will ruin our business."

"If this goes through, we'll have to get out," said John Dudgeon, referring to his client, Safeway, Inc., at 16th and South.

Lloyd Marti, representing several No. 27th businesses, suggested the project there would downgrade the improvements made recently on the street "which was once a slum area."

Two petitions containing 1,700 signatures each, collected from property owners and customers of businesses on both streets, asked:

—That painted medians and channelization devices be substituted for concrete medians.

Guaranteed Access

—That access to business establishments on both projects be guaranteed during the construction period.

The council also fielded complaints from persons who said the widening would place homes too close to the street, that the improvement at 33rd and Vine would take away needed school crossings and that hundreds of trees would be destroyed.

Twice Mayor Dean Petersen had to gavel the council chamber into silence. Applause erupted when Dudgeon completed his South St. presentation and the crowd jeered when Charles Simon suggested that traffic engineer Holsinger "should have more power."

Holsinger defended the project designs, which he termed "minimum," and said there has been "quite a dramatic reduction in accidents because of raised medians."

He also cautioned that the council must think in terms of expediting traffic flow and should follow the public works department's recommended 10-year street improvement program.

Robert Obering, acting director of public works, told the council that a decision will have to be made soon on the projects in order to get any construction work done during the coming season.

Rabbits May Produce Serum Against Cancer

Phoenix, Ariz. (AP)— Some very tolerant young rabbits may become future factories producing serum that can fight specific human cancers a researcher reported Monday.

Dr. Elaine Levi of Los Angeles said that that rabbits were innoculated with human white cells when young—when their bodies were still incapble of recognizing and fighting off the human characteristics of the cells.

The human white cells were collected from 30 normal individuals, and Dr. Levi believes that they represent all human cell characteristics for the entire human race.

Now the rabbits are ready to receive cells from specific human cancers—with the hope that they will produce serums against those cancers, she told the American Cancer Soociety's eighth science writers seminar.

As they mature, animals and humans develop an immune mechanism that acs as a protection against disease and agents recognized as foreign to the body. The body recognizes the foreign material and produces antibodies against it.

But in young animals, such as the rabbits, there is a perlod before the immune mechanims becomes effective. It is in that period that Dr. Levi, a research immunologist at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center, injected the human cells in the rabbits, and the rabbits then grew up with a built-in tolerance for human cells other rabbits would have cast off.

As the rabbits mature, they become capable of producing antibodies against foreign materials with the exception of human cells. The idea is to challenge the animals later with specific human cancers, reap the antibodies in serum that they produce and inject these cancer-fighting antibodies back into the human suffering from the cancer.

Man Fined For Making Own Liquor

A Raymond man pleaded guilty and was fined $200 in Lancaster County Court Monday on a charge of manufacturing alcoholic liquor without a license.

Harold A. Fasick was arrested after a State Safety Patrolman observed indications of the presence of a still in a shack about one-half mile east and one-half mile north of Raymond.

The Patrol, aided by the Lancaster County sheriff's office and liquor commissioner, obtained necessary warrants and confiscated a still, some bottles and corn mash.

According to Chief Deputy County Atty. William Blue, a warrant has been issued for the arrest of a second man involved in the illegal manufacture and distribution of liquor.

Farmers Order 1.8 Million Trees

Extension forester Karl Loerch of the University of Nebraska reports orders have been received for more than 1.8 million Clarke-McNary trees for planting this spring. The requests came from some 5,000 Nebraska farmers and ranchers who plan to establish windbreaks and woodlots.

2 Members Of Union Council Okay Contract

Two of the nine unions associated with the Lincoln Building and Construction Trades Council have agreed to new contract terms with management, a spokesman for the Building Construction Employers Association reported Monday.

John Miller, vice president of Olson Construction Company, said negotiations with the other unions are progressing and he sees no indication of an impending strike.

Contracts expire Friday.

The union council had warned last week that its 1,400 members may strike "unless contract negotiations progress better than they have to this point."

Miller replied that "as far as I know, they are progressing as they should. We're meeting, and we're getting closer."

Miller said he sees "no indication of any walkout except what we see in the public print."

The union council said it is requesting a 75-cents-an-hour wage increase over a three-year period in addition to increased health, welfare and pension benefits and other contract revisions.

Miller declined to say at this time what management is offering to any of the nine unions, or which two unions have agreed to terms.

8 Enrollees At McCook Job Corps Camp Jailed

McCook (UPI)—At least a dozen enrollees of the federal men's Job Corps project center here battled in a corps' mess hall Monday, overturning chairs and tables in a fist-swinging melee.

Director Clem Griffin said his preliminary investigation indicated the disturbance was one involving "personalities only" and had no other overtones.

He said he would report further, probably Tuesday or Wednesday, after questioning the enrollees and the some half-dozen corps officials present in the mess hall when the fight broke out.

Negro and white youths were both involved but Griffin said he undercovered nothing so far indicating a racial clash.

Griffin said two Job Corps enrollees were hospitalized and 10 others treated and released from St. Catherine's Hospital Monday afternoon. The camp is situated northwest of here.

Griffin said eight trainees were arrested and were being held in the Red Willow County jail. He said the injuries involved were minor and that to protect the government so far as any insurance claims might go, it was decided to subject all of the youths involved to a hospital examination.

There are 96 enrollees at the camp.

Sheriff James Short said he received a call for aid from Griffin. The sheriff, his deputy, McCook Police Chief Glenn Soss and four city police hastened to the scene.

When they arrived, Short said Griffin asked him to arrest the eight.

The two hospitalized were treated for bruises and contusions and were being held for observation. The other 10 injured were also treated for bruises and contusions and then were released.

It was the first such outbreak at the camp, which opened recently.

The McCook Job Corps center is a conservation camp. The planned Job Corps at Lincoln will be an urban center for men.

Top Court Revives Charges In Killings Of 2 Negroes, 2 Whites

Washington (AP)— The Supreme Court ruled Monday the federal government can stop in to prosecute under two Reconstruction-era laws men accused of anti-civil rights terrorism.

The unanimous findings revived indictments against 17 Mississippians in the slaying of three civil rights workers—Michael Schwerner, Andrew Goodman and James Chaney—and against six Georgians in the highway killing of Negro educator Lemuel Penn.

The net effect of the tandem decision is to strengthen the federal hand when state officials refuse to prosecute, or when such officials actually are involved in terrorism.

And, the court said, even when private individuals conspire to interfere with the right to travel, they can be prosecuted under one of the two laws.

But, splitting, the court stopped short of approving the use of the laws to prosecute private individuals when 14th Amendment rights are violated.

"The 14th Amendment protects the individual against state action, not against wrongs done by individuals," Justice Potter Stewart said in delivering the court's opinion in the Penn case.

"This has been the view of the court from the beginning. It remains the court's view today."

The decision is the Schwerner-Goodman-Chaney case was announced by Justice Abe Fortas.

Here, the government charged that local law authorities turned the young civil rights workers over to a "lynch mob." The government obtained indictments, under both laws, one enacted in 1966 and the other in 1870.

The 1866 law makes it a misdemeanor, punishable by one year in prison and $1,000 fine, or both, to act "under cover of law" to deprive anyone of his constitutional rights.

The 1870 law makes it a felony, punishable by up to 10 years in prison and $5,000 or both, to conspire to deprive anyone of his 14th Amendment rights without due process of law.

U.S. District Judge W. Harold Cox in Jackson, Miss., had dismissed the felony indictments obtained by the government against the 17 men, including three law officers. Cox left misdemeanor indictments standing against the officers—Sheriff Lawrence A. Rainey of Neshoba County, Deputy Cecil Price and Philadelphia Policeman Richard W. Willis—and dismissed the indictments against the others.

In reviving the dismissed indictments Monday, Fortas said for the high court that both officials and private individuals who where charged with being a party to the "brutal joint adventure . . must suffer the consequences of that participation."

In the Penn case, U.S. District Judge W. A. Bootle in Macon, Ga., had dismissed felony indictments against the six men, three of them members of Ku Klux Klan.

Here, too, the indictments were revived, although, Stewart said, the indictment named "no person alleged to have acted in any way under the cover of state law."

However, Stewart said, "the indictment in fact contains an express allegation of state involvement" and this allegation is enough to reverse the lower court and clear the way for trial.

Schwerner and Goodman, white New Yorkers, and Chaney, a Meridian Negro, were slain near Philadelphia, Miss., in June 1964. Penn, a Washington, D.C., public school official, was shot dead on a Georgia highway returning from Reserve Army duty at Ft. Benning, Ga.

In another action, the court:

—Refused to speed up consideration of an appeal by Julian Bond, an official of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), that it clear the way for him to take his seat in the Georgia house. Bond, a Negro and pacifist, was barred when he approved a SNCC statement describing U.S. policy in Viet Nam as aggression.

13 Nabbed, 14th Hunted In Fiery Death Of Negro

Hattiesburg, Miss. (AP)—Federal agents climaxed an intense investigation into the fiery death of a Negro leader here with the arrest Monday of 13 men they identified as Mississippi Ku Klux Klansmen.

A 14th, Imperial Wizard Sam Holloway Bowers Jr., eluded officers and was being hunted. The FBI described him as armed and dangerous.

The 14 were charged with civil rights law violations stemming from the Jan. 10 slaying of Vernon F. Dahmer, 58. Dahmer awoke that day and found his home and nearby store in flames. He exchanged shots with his attackers but died from burns several hours later.

NAACP Leader

Dahmer was a past president of the Forrest County branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. He had been active in voter registration work.

The FBI charged the 14 men with violating a 19th century law against conspiring to intimidate persons pursuing their constitutional rights. This law was aimed at the post-Civil War Klan.

The 14 men also were charged with violation of the 1965 voting rights act, which makes it a crime to harm or intimidate persons attempting to vote or urging others to vote.

Conviction on both charges could bring 15 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Several dozen FBI agents, aided by state and local officers, spent 2½ months running down clues in the Dahmer slaying.

Agents fanned over adjoining Jones County at dawn Monday, and within two hours had picked up 12 men described as members of the White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan of Mississippi.

Among them were Cecil V. Sessum, 30, Ellisville salesman, listed as exalted cyclops of the Jones County klavern, and Howard T. Giles, 37, unemployed, described as a former exalted cyclops of the Ellisville klavern.

13th In Houston

A 13th man, Charles Lamar Lowe, 23, was arrested in Houston, Tex., where he recently got a job as a clerk and stockman. Lowe denied belonging to the Klan.

Lowe waived preliminary hearing and was ordered held under $50,000 bond pending removal to Mississippi.

Charles Evers, Mississippi field secretary for the NAACP, said:

"I'm extremely happy over the arrests. And I think the people of Mississippi will now see just what the Ku Klux Klan really is."

Gov. Paul Johnson said Monday's charges don't mean the case is finished.

Those arrested in Jones County were arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Jack Pittman here. He set a preliminary hearing for April 12. Their bonds varied from $10,000 to $15,000.

In addition to Sessum and Giles, they were:

—Lawrence Byrd, 44, Laurel, owner of radio and TV service.

—Henry E. De Boxtel, 29, Laurel, restaurant employe.

—Clifton E. Lowe, 50, handyman at a Houston motel and father of Charles Lowe.

—James F. Lyons, 33, Laurel, employe of the Masonite Corp.

—Melsin V. Martin, 33, Laurel, another Masonite employe.

—Emanuel B. Moss, 52, Laurel, service station operator.

—Deavours Nix, 42, Laurel, cafe owner.

Charles R. Noble, 23, Laurel, Masonite employe.

—Billy Roy Pitts, 22, Laurel, furniture and upholstery shop employe.

—William R. Smith, Laurel, Masonite employe.

Bowers, 41, owns and operates a Laurel amusement company.

White residents of Hattiesburg generally were incensed at Dahmer's slaying.

Recognition Of Red China Frowned On

Washington (AP) — A call for stepped-up bombing of North Viet Nam and warnings against recognition of Red China were heard by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Monday as it renewed its examination of U.S. policy in Asia.

And one witness told the committee that its hearings seem aimed at "softening our resistance to Chinese communism."

Dr. Walter H. Judd, a Rising City, Neb., native and former Republican congressman from Minnesota and onetime medical missionary to China, urged the heavier bombing. He led off for the group of three witnesses summoned at the request of GOP committeemen who had complained that earlier witnesses expressed the views of Democratic members in counseling closer contacts with mainland China.

Judd asked bombings of "war plants, power plants, oil tanks" and whatever is important to North Viet Nam's war effort.

This hasn't been done, Judd said, "because an almost hysterical fear has been built up that, among other things, it might lead to war with Red China."

NEBRASKA NATIVE . . . Judd testifies.

Judd was joined in opposing recognition of Red China and its admission to the United Nations by Dr. George E. Taylor, director of the University of Washington's Far Eastern and Russian Affairs Institute, and by Yale Prof. David N. Rowe.

It was Rowe who challenged the committee's aims and said the chairman himself, Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., "states that the main aim of his hearings is a political aim—namely to prevent a war with Communist China."

Howe said such a war would destroy Red China and deal a "catastrophic setback" to world communism. He said Peking and its friends in the United States are seeking to avoid such a collision.

Civilian Propagandists

The China-born professor said the committee's course so far is to "align selected civilian propagandists uniformly against the main line of United States foreign policy in Asia" with the effect of depicting public experts "at odds with the administration."

Taylor, who went to China in 1930 on a teaching fellowship and remained there until 1939, told the senators recognition would amount to "a near formula to conceal a move to de-emphasize our commitments to Taiwan."

"Why help the Peking regime when it is in trouble?" Taylor asked.

At the United Nations, Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg said Monday any change in U.S. policy towad Communist China depends on whether Peking is prepared to end its "self-imposed isolation."

Policy Under Review

He told a news conference that U.S. policy toward China is under review, but that there has been no change in the U.S. postion opposing its representation in the United Nations.

In November the General Assembly split 47 to 47 with 20 abstentions on the issue of admitting Red China. This fell short of the required two-third majority.

Goldberg was asked about reports that the United States was considering a proposal under which Communist China and Nationalist China could be seated in the United Nations. He termed that unacceptable to either government, and called attention to recent rebuffs he said Red China had experienced in many parts of the world, including Indonesia and Africa.

Noble Opposition Leader Has Hopeless Task

By ROBERT N. LINDSAY

Johannesburg, South Africa (AP)—A baronet who is well set financially has a hopeless job in South Africa's parliamentary elections.

When about two million white South Africans vote Wednesday for members of the all-white house of assembly, the main opposition will be led into the struggle by a tall gentleman farmer, Sir De Villiers Graaff.

Despite his inherited British title, De Villiers Graaff, commonly called "Div," is South African-born and bred.

He and his United Party, long led by the late Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts, are campaigning seriously, although they know that Prime Minister Hendrick Verwoerd's Nationalists are likely to win.

The Nationalists have been in power since 1948. Five years ago they won 105 seats against the United Party's 49 in the 160-member house. The assembly has been increased to 170. All the new seats may go to Verwoerd's party.

The 53-year-old "Div" has been stumping the country with remarkable vigor and dogged persistence.

The foundations of his patience were laid in World War II. He spent three years in prison camps in Germany and Italy. There he drew on tenacity inherited from his Afrikaner ancestors who came to South Africa from Europe in the early days of white settlement.

His objective in the election seems to be to return to parliament without losing more ground to the Nationalists.

His party stands for representation of whites and nonwhites in parliament, although African voting rights would be restricted and expanded only by approval of the white voters at a referendum. The party holds that all races should be fused into a nation under white control.

Verwoerd believes in a whites-only parliament and a separate white nation, with no parliamentary representation for nonwhites.

Wilson Smells Vote Victory, Bars Troop Role In Viet Nam

London (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson, scenting election victory, Monday ruled out a role for British troops in Viet Nam.

The British people choose a new parliament Thursday. wilson pledged anew that his Labor government will end the Rhodesian rebellion without the use of force.

At a jampacked news conference, Wilson brushed aside as "tomfoolery" opposition Conservative claims that Britain, under Labor rule, has become an American satellite.

Wilson defined his government's aim on British membership in the European Common Market in this way:

"We shall continue to probe to find out what conditions will be available if we were to seek to join."

Earlier Edward Heath, Conservative leader, accused Wilson of evading a clearcut statement of attitude toward joining the six-nation market.

Heath emphatically denied that he is anti-American.

"Criticism of dependence on America is quite different from criticizing America herself," he said.

Republicans Call On LBJ To Draft Another Budget

Washington (AP)—Republican leaders Monday blamed the Democrats for rising prices and said President Johnson should draft a new budget curtailing homefront spending.

They said the costs of war in South Viet Nam should be met by cuts in domestic spending, not by increased taxes.

Former Budget Director Maurice H. Stans, chief draftsman of a Republican Coordinating Committee report on the economy, said Johnson's $112.8 billion budget for fiscal 1967 should be cut between $2 and $4 billion.

In other moves, the GOP committee:

—Called for postponement until Sept. 1 of the deadline for elderly Americans to sign up for supplemental coverage under the medicare program. This coverage, at $3 a month, is for doctor's bills.

Republicans will introduce legislation to change the March 31 deadline for signing without affecting the program's July 1 starting date.

—Postponed consideration of a proposal that Republicans hold a platform conference well in advance of the 1968 convention. Michigan Gov. George Romney brought up that question, but said he agrees it should not be formally considered until after elections next fall.

General Can Name Officers

Washington (AP) — Gen William C. Westmoreland, Army commander in Viet Nam, has been authorized to appoint second lieutenants in the field, the Defense Department said Monday.

Under the new policy, an enlisted man or woman may be appointed a Reserve officer with a concurrent call to active duty. Appointees must be on active duty and must have served in Viet Nam at least six months.

Previously, appointment with concurrent active duty could be made only with approval of the Army Department.

The new commissioning differs from battlefield appointments in that the enlisted man must apply to, and be recommended by, an examining board of officers.

No examining board is involved in battlefield commissions, made only during emergencies declared by the president and Congress and for "actual demonstrated leadership in combat."

Stock Loss Not Severe

. . . AS RESULT OF BLIZZARD SWEEPING STATE

Last week's blizzard caused some loss of livestock in Nebraska, but losses were limited generally to very young animals, particularly those born during the storm, government crop observers reported Monday.

Feeding and care of all livestock was complicated in several areas by the loss of electrical power for an extended period, according to the weekly crop report of the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

The March 22-23 storm halted field operations in all parts of the state, but gave top soil a good wetting, the division said.

"All areas report at least adequate supplies of subsoil moisture and nearly all counties report adequate surface soil supplies at present," the report said.

Polly Honeymooning With Husband's Folks

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Douglas — Polly Dughman may not be the first bride to honeymoon with her in-laws —only this one's husband is half a world away.

SP/5 Dughman

It was in Korea that Song Yong Sun became the wife of SP-5 Eldon Dughman. Six days later he shipped out to Viet Nam — and she looked up a map pin spot called Douglas, Neb.

After two months the smiling newcomer is not only daughter to the Dale Dughmans but "Polly" to much of the populace (197). She's even pitched in on church projects — a time-passer surpassed only by being with your new husband.

Wed In September

"We were married at 3 in the afternoon and I ended two weeks' vacation by going to work at 4:30," recalled the former government employe of the Sept. 13 wedding. Army plans had taken priority over a long-scheduled Sept. 1 ceremony.

Serving three Korean tours since his 1950 enlistment, Eldon became engaged to English-speaking Polly three years ago. The career soldier expects to join his wife in June—also his parents, sister Jessa and Lincoln brother Wyman.

Meanwhile, brother Joy is an SP-4 only 25 miles away in Viet Nam. Yep, the only thing that beats a brother for a honeymoon is an in-law!

Tractor Kills 10-Year-Old

Hemingford (UPI)—A 10-year-old Hemingford boy was killed in a tractor mishap on his father's farm.

He was Gerry Vickers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Vickers, who farm seven miles southeast of Hemingford.

The scene of the accident was one-half mile east of the farmhouse in a field. With the boy was Burt Tinsley, an employe, who with the boy had brought the tractor to the field and was hooking it up to a disk.

A spokesman of the Hemingford emergency unit said no one was on the tractor at the time of the accident. He said the tractor started to roll back as Tinsley was trying to attach the disk.

The tractor passed over the boy and Tinsley himself received a serious leg cut trying to stop the machine. He was taken to the hospital in Alliance for surgery.

Lionel Hampton Finds Thai King 'Cool' Musician

Bangkok, Thailand (AP) — Adulyadej and entertainer Lionel Hampton swung through a two-hour jam session Monday in the stately surroundings of the royal summer palace.

"He's a gasser," said the Negro entertainer. "He's cool man, he's King Cool."

Hampton, on a brief entertainment visit to Bangkok, was invited by the 38-year-old king to the summer palace in Hua Hin, south of Bangkok. There he dedicated two songs to the Thai royal family—"King Cool" to the king and "Thai Silk" to the queen.

He said the king switched from a clarinet to an assortment of saxophones for the jam session with members of Hampton's band.

"Man he was great. He began with us and then began going into his own style," Hampton commented

Research Groups Testify Pet Theft Is Exaggerated

Washington (UPI) — Representatives of medical research organizations told Senate investigators Monday that stories of thefts of pets for scientific experiments had been greatly exaggerated.

In testimony before the Senate Commerce Committee, the spokesmen blamed "petnapping" on humane and antivivisectionists organizations.

The committee is considering legislation to curb thefts of family pets that eventually end up in research experiments. Proposals would license animal suppliers and laboratories to insure humane treatment of animals.

Ralston Youth Claims UFO Dented His Auto

Ralston (AP)—Roy LaMark, 17, of Ralston, has reported an encounter with an unidentified flying object a week ago, but no trace of it has been found.

LaMark said the object, a yellowish flaming mass crashed into the front of his car, denting the bumper and hood. There were spots resembling grease or carbon round the dent, but he said he returned to the area several times and could find nothing.

LaMark said he had just met another car when he noticed a flying object resembling a wad of burning newspapers. About six feet off the ground it approached at a downward angle and crashed into the front of his car. The other driver also saw the fireball and heard the impact, but the two could find nothing when they searched along the road.

LaMark said the incident occurred at about 76th and Q streets.

Trash Fire Starts Big Blaze

Crawford (AP)—A timber and grass fire was brought under control in the rough butte country about 12 miles northeast of Crawford Monday afternoon after burning over some 75 to 100 acres of timberland.

District Ranger Clifford Van Doren of the U.S Forest Service said that mopping up operations should be completed by Tuesday.

He said the blaze spread from a trash fire on a farm and was driven by winds which gusted up to 25 miles per hour

There were no farm buildings or livestock lost in the blaze.

Chadron and Crawford fire departments and forest service personnel plus some 40 youths from the Pine Ridge Job Corps Camp and nearly 100 volunteers battled the blaze for about four houurs

5,500 Work At Omaha WE Plant

Omaha (AP) — About 5,500 persons now are employed at the Omaha works of Western Electric, about the maximum number, manager James Herbert said Monday.

He said 800 new employes were added the last few months of 1965.

In his report, Herbert said Western Electric will pour an additional $2.5 million into the Omaha area economy this year through increased payrolls. He said the 1965 payroll for the plant was $35.5 million, and estimated it will hit $38 million this year.

Herbert said there has been no change in the status of the city's plans to annex the plant He said the planning board still is considering the matter.

Herbert said he could give no definite answer on whether annexation would crimp future expansion plans.

One expansion proposal was ready to be presented to the Western Electric Board of Directors, Herbert said, but was set aside when the annexation question arose.

The report said Western Electric paid $1,068,000 in state and local taxes last year and its distribution center in Omaha paid an additional $98,850.

It added the employes donated $113,250 to the United Community Services and 1,458 pints of blood to the Red Cross

Herbert said sales from the Omaha works during 1965 amounted to $175 million and purchases made within the Omaha area amounted to $10.5 million.

400 Respond To Call For Rare Blood

Omaha (UPI)—Officials of the Douglas-Sarpy County Red Cross said Monday afternoon that the response to a public appeal for B negative type blood was outstanding.

Dr. Horace Giffen, medical director, said an unusually large number of telephone calls came from outlying districts in Nebraska and Iowa.

The appeal went out to help save the life of a 19-year-old Omaha girl who has B negative type blood and who must undergo open-heart surgery. By mid-afternoon, more than 400 persons had responded.

The Red Cross said only two persons out of every 100 have the type of blood needed. One out of every 1,000 Caucasians has the right type while four out of every one-thousand Negroes have it.

By 4 p.m., 159 samples had been taken. Giffen said it will not be known how many of the samples taken Monday will cross-match until at least Wednesday.

He said that experience has shown the Red Cross will be fortunate to find four that will be of the right type. Because of this, he said it will be necessary to continue the appeal for the remainder of the week at least.

Samples will not be taken Tuesday, but the public was urged to call in to make appointments for Wednesday or Friday.

Lincoln Student Receives Year's Tuition To U of N

An educational grant amounting to a full year's tuition at the University of Nebraska has been awarded to Jane Wiechert of Lincoln by the Nebraska Council of Home Extension Clubs.

Miss Wiechert

The Council annually awards such a grant to a deserving Miss Wiechert junior or senior home economics student at NU who is interested in a career in the Cooperative Extension Service.

Miss Wiechert, 19, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wiechert of Route 1, Lincoln, is majoring in home economics education. She has been a Lancaster County 4-H club member for 10 years and in 1965 served as camp counselor at the State 4-H Camp at Halsey.

O'Neill Man, 50, Dies In Dakota Crash Killing 4

Ravinia, S.D. (UPI) — A Nebraskan and three members of a South Dakota family were killed in a two-car headon collision near here.

Dead were Charles A. Thelander, 50, an auto dealer from O'Neill, Neb.; and Louis Dufek, 59, Geddes, S.D.; his mother, Bessie, 84, and his wife, Louise, 61.

A brother, Fred Dufek, was hospitalized in poor condition at Wagner, S.D.

Authorities said Thelander apparently lost control of his vehicle. It skidded broadside down the road when the collision occurred with the Dufek auto.

Thelander's survivors include his wife, son and two daughters.

Big Republican Week

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Nebraska Republicans should be full of enthusiasm with their Founders Day weekend now behind them. Most observers seem to feel that this was one of the best such events of recent years. There was a good turnout of party faithful and an air of confidence that will undoubtedly be transformed into a lot of hard work in the months ahead.

Thus, in a purely political sense, Founders Day has to be classed as a success for the GOP. But in a deeper analysis of the event, it is difficult to find much of real meaning. It can be said that Republicans all along the line are not lacking in criticism of the Democrats. This was evident in the major address of the event, the banquet speech by Ronald Reagan, Republican candidate for governor of California. But Reagan's remarks displayed the weakness that runs through much of the GOP campaign to date. The Hollywood star gave the voters some reasons to vote against the Democrats but nothing for which to vote Republican.

Very Little Meaning

Twice, Reagan was on the verge of making some positive proposals but each time he approached that step, he failed to take it. At one point, he noted that the GOP is criticized for being negative and not positive. He then told a joke with the punch line upholding Republican initiative. But he never went beyond the joke to disprove the negative-positive issue.

Later on, he again approached the same point and the same accusation against Republicans. He answered that the Republicans believe there is a level of existence below which people should not have to live but that they were also against any ceiling beyond which people could not rise. This was more of a quip than any refutation of the accusation in question.

In short, Reagan never once in a long and entertaining speech advanced one single thing for which his party stood except generalities. He was for "letting" the fighting men in Viet Nam win the war but short on how to accomplish this. He and other Republicans spoke at other times of extended bombing of North Viet Nam and mining of major North Viet Nam harbors and those represent about the only exception to an otherwise exclusive line of criticism. With some of this criticism, there can be agreement but it is doubtful that Republicans will get the kind of results they want without a positive offering to the voters.

The Founders Day activities produced hardly any discussion of statewide issues.

The GOP theme of a strong two-party system has some merit on a national basis but also has some weaknesses. It is a rather dubious issue in Nebraska where the GOP has for years been the dominant party and is likely to be so after the coming elections. Even under the best circumstances, Democrats are figured to win no more than one House and one Senate seat in November. On the state side, they could retain the governor's and lieutenant governor's offices and perhaps keep one Statehouse post. This is about the most the Democrats could hope for in any realistic appraisal of the current political scene. If all that came to pass, the GOP would still be in possession of a majority of public offices at all levels in the state.

As for the national picture, the GOP will have to plead more than a strong two-party system. They will have to offer voters some reason to increase their ranks in the House and Senate. This will have to include more than positions in favor of greater efficiency, a balanced budget, a sound dollar and victory over communism.

Those things are fine as statements of principals but the Republicans need to explain how they intend to implement these principles. It was the conservative philosophy of Goldwater that gave the Democrats the top-heavy majorities they now enjoy in Washington. The Republican party was staunchly Goldwater in Nebraska but lost at the polls.

Sen. Carl Curtis was a Goldwater leader and has done nothing to indicate he is any different today. Currently, the Republican party leadership and hard-core party faithful appear to favor highly conservative candidates up and down the line. If Republican voters in the primary follow this line, exemplified in N. T. Tiemann as the gubernatorial candidate and Philip Anderson of Crete as the lieutenant governor hopeful, then the party can find the answer to a two-party system only within its own ranks. In contrast, the GOP is bringing Michigan Gov. George Romney to Lincoln for a fund-raising dinner in May.

Within The Ranks

The Romney appearance is in line with the more progressive attitude believed by many to be essential for Republican success in November. This affair should be a howling success if Nebraska Republicans intend to convince the voters they have something to offer besides disagreement with the way things are now being done.

Changing Stalin's Memory

The newspapers over the weekend told us that a movement is on foot in Russia to rehabilitate, in part at least, the image and memory of Josef Salin.

This was one of the developments at the opening of the communist party's 23rd Congress. Leonid I. Brezhnev will discuss Stalin with accent on his good points and a great deal left out about his dark side.

As an outsider nation we need give this but little thought. Cleaning up the image of Mr. Stalin is a political device. It is considered serviceable at this moment. There is deep division in international communism. Some of the delegates at the conference come from countries which are more inclined to the violent Chinese type of communism. The Chinese aggrandize Stalin and profess to believe in his tyrannous regime with its heartless cruelty. The Russian communists can afford to give a little ground on this point in order to make the wavering delegates feel more comfortable. But it will not make much difference in the way Russia is run.

Stalin was an individual. His deeds made policy. He came up at a time when he could still deal harshly with his rivals and with the Russian people. For an unforeseeable time Russia has emerged from that condition. It is doubtful that Stalin's practices would be tolerated today. Those who denounced him after his death and brought him to a lower place in history were only able to do so because of popular consent. That same consent would work strongly against a return to Stalinist Russia.

If history awards any admirable place for Stalin, even in Russia, it would be for his share of the allied victory over Nazism, the preservation of Russia during its hour of peril. In a decent world that is all he is entitled to.

Why Dog Law Needed

While it sometimes seems to be an unwarranted invasion of privacy, the law in regard to dogs running at large is an essential one. As a good example, we might point to the case of the San Diego, Calif., Viet Nam war veteran who was bitten by a dog running at large. The animal was rabid and the veteran now must undergo anti-rabies shots which threaten his susceptibility to epileptic attack.

It is a particularly disturbing case but it demonstrates the need for a law such as Lincoln has requiring that dogs be kept on their owner's property or on a leash if beyond the private property line. Despite the law, many people let their dogs roam loose while others ignore the leash requirement.

People who ignore the law in any respect do so at their own risk. They may think their dog is no danger to anyone but that is a common misconception among dog owners. They know their dog and their dog knows them but that is as far as it goes. A dog gentle in his own family surroundings can still be vicious in other circumstances.

Having a dog is surely understandable but the owner has an obligation not to let the animal interfere with others. This includes such things as disturbing the peace of others and trespassing upon the property of others, as well as personal injury to others.

This is the time of year when violations of the dog confinement law are most pronounced and most annoying. The dog owner who fails to properly control his animal should have no objection when complaints are made and the law is enforced against him.

A Bad Tactic

The county has just been treated to a distasteful event.

It does not sympathize with General Motors for putting investigators on the tail of a writer, prying into his personal life and into his sex habits.

Ralph Nader, the writer, is laboring in a crusade for safer automobiles. He penned a book, "Unsafe at Any Speed" in which the car makers come out as indifferent to public safety. He did point up many weak spots in car design. But he gave little or no credit to car makers' efforts toward safety. And he did not confront the problem in its real and complex form. Bad driving, bad highways and lack of uniformity in traffic laws contribute in degrees to traffic smashups. He seems to forget that the great majority of people drive these so-called death cars all their lives without serious consequences. Perhaps they are fortunate. Perhaps again they are more prudent drivers.

But for General Motors to attempt to answer Nader by looking for evidence to discredit him personally, is a sneaky trick and it backfired. The fact is that efforts to demolish a writer is one thing. Car safety is quite another. In taking the action and getting caught at it makes it appear that car manufacturers are guilty of bad automobile design. This discounts any solid evidence the manufacturers may have had to win their case on its merits.

President James Roche of General Motors told Senate investigators that General Motors is sorry that it attempted to engage in character assassination. But in the minds of many this does not say that General Motors was sorry about what it did or sorry because what it did didn't work.

We still believe that the manufacturers are the least guilty of all in this matter of traffic smashups. But we can't approve of an attitude which would simply demolish a critic rather than answer him.

China-Russia Tiff Of Long Standing

WASHINGTON — The big break between communist China and communist Russia has been simmering a long time and its culmination constitutes the most important political development of the year.

Wherever the feud has come to the surface so the Western World could see it, the basic issues have been over the question of atomic war and coexistence with the United States.

The first sign of friction between these two giants of communism came in 1956, when at the 20th party congress in Moscow Khrushchev put the Soviet on record against atomic war and outlined his theory that economic achievement was more important than military achievement.

This was 12 months after he had conferred with President Eisenhower at the Geneva summit conference in 1955, agreed to the principle of people-to-people friendship, and seemed convinced that Ike wanted peace.

Again, in 1959, after Khrushchev conferred at length with Eisenhower at Camp David, friction with the Chinese flared again. They had warned him one year earlier against going to New York for a U.N. meeting. Khrushchev listened, called if off.

But in 1959 he became more and more convinced that the peace of the world depended on collaboration between Moscow and Washington. So this time he did not call off the trip to Washington. One week afterward, however, he flew to Peking to report to the Chinese on his talks with Eisenhower. Chinese leaders failed to meet him at the airport, were deliberately rude.

☆ ☆ ☆

Two years later, after the 22nd party congress in Moscow, October, 1961, I reported that Khrushchev's old political enemy, Foreign Minister Molotov, had lined up on the side of the Chinese and against coexistence. Molotov wrote a letter to the Central Committee stating: "Without adversity, without war, there can be no real advance toward communism."

I reported further that Molotov was summoned back to Moscow from his job in Vienna and fired. The Chinese, led by premier Chou En-lai, walked out of the conference and went home.

Again the basic issue was peace or war with the United States.

Next year, after I interviewed President Tito of Yugoslavia, the Chinese let loose a 5,000-word editorial blast at Tito for urging peace with the United States and for giving an interview to "an imperialist newspaperman."

One year later, 1963, Khrushchev signed a test-ban treaty with the United States. The Chinese refused to sign, and issued more blasts against Khrushchev for being a "stooge" of the United States.

Galbraith Sees Deep Policy Shift

WASHINGTON — God's in His Heaven and all's right with the world. With a few qualifiers about the difficulties in pacifying South Viet Nam that was the theme of President Lyndon B. Johnson's last press conference.

His buoyant optimism — that only a few dissenters on the fringe disagree with his Viet Nam policy — may be a good rallying cry for the elections this fall. But the presidential optimism happens to run counter to the objective analyses of the poll takers and the opinion samplers who weigh these matters.

On the basis of his own asmples in 18 districts across the country the President seemed to believe that the Democrats will not merely hold their own but may actually gain congressional seats. Certain of his loyal and stouthearted lieutenants on Capitol Hill are telling him that if the election were held tomorrow, instead of on Nov. 8, the net loss would be 20 or less. In view of the 72 Democrats swept in in the Johnson landslide that would be counted a famous victory. The White House will not make available the Johnson samples.

An analysis of the changing currents came from Prof. John Kenneth Galbraith of Harvard University in a speech being studied here by both liberals and conservatives. Galbraith, ambassador to India under President Kennedy and author of a special report on Viet Nam for the late president, sees the old coalition on foreign policy breaking up.

"No one associated with this change sees communism as an appealing form of government." Galbraith told a Roosevelt Day FDA dinner in Los Angeles. "None doubt its evangelical character. But there is no longer much sympathy for the simplistic division of the world between the good guys who are anti-communist and the bad guys who are not. There is doubt that the United States was meant to police the whole world against systems of government that it finds unpalatable.

"There were prime tenets of the old faith. Secretary Dulles wrote these into one of the most comprehensive — and generally ineffective —treaty systems the world has ever seen. Secretary Rusk told the Senate that these treaties oblige us, although they oblige almost no one else, to stand guard over Asia."

The old foreign policy establishment now breaking up counted, according to Galbraith, on an automatic anti-communism. But this automatic response has been weakened by the divisions within the communist world which obviously destroy the doctrine of a unified conspiracy. This means, the professor-diplomat said, that we can no longer have a single anti-communist policy. The most important thing that has happened, he noted, is that the American university community, growing rapidly in numbers, self-confidence and political influence, "is increasingly unwilling to accept the made-in-Washington line."

LA VERNA HASSLER

Patchwork Prairie Country

The late afternoon was warm — "shirt-sleeve weather," I call it — so I sprinted from the kitchen to work in the yard.

How the earth has put on its dress of green spring loveliness! The neighbor's wheat across the way is a solid carpet of emerald. It seems only a few days ago that it was a muted brown, dormant and sparse looking.

I added bone meal to the iris and was surprised to see how the pointed spears had inched their way toward the sun since I had seen them last week. The columbine are in neat bunches of leaves, hugging the ground as if afraid to venture forth too far for fear of getting caught in a late season snowstorm.

The ruffled leaves of the rhubarb have just uncurled above the ground and give promise of a pie within a few short weeks. The feathery sprigs of parsley that wintered over in the garden cover the ground in a private little plot and made me think of creamed new potatoes with chopped parsley floating in the rich sauce.

The Farmer was working nearby in the field. The smell of freshly turned soil and earthy dampness drifted toward me. I caught my breath. I was overflowing with the freshness of spring.

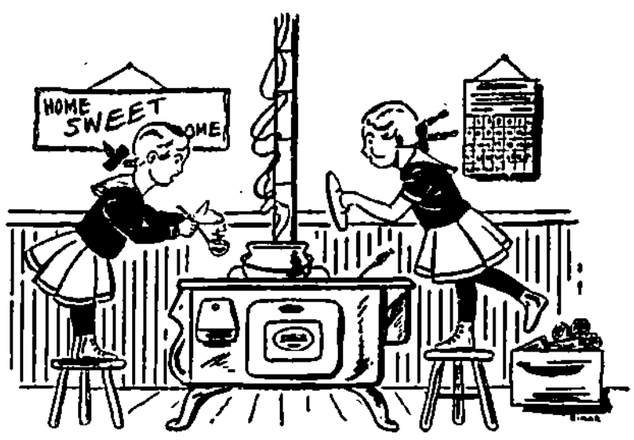
There has been a fat stewing hen in the deep-freeze for some time, but with an eye toward clearing the freezer for new food, I thought it best to take the hen out and make her into something tasty. I decided upon chicken soup . . . the slow, simmered, home-made kind, rich in the flavor of chicken and bay leaves. While I was making the soup, I also thought plump dumplings would be good in the broth. It had been some time since I had tried my luck with dumplings, but they did turn out to be very good . . . light and feathery as the cookbooks say they should be.



Every time I make dumplings, I think of the time my sister and I made our first dumplings. We were very new in the art of cookery and I suppose we anticipated failure. However, we did not expect to see dumplings disappear right before our very eyes.

We abided religiously by the recipe and clamped the lid tightly on the kettle. We were instructed not to lift the lid for fifteen minutes. Doing so might make the dumplings soggy. One thing we didn't want was soggy dumplings.

Imagine our surprise when we lifted the lid at the end of the specific cooking time and found the dumplings had disappeared. Instead we found a creamy looking thick soup. The dumplings had disintegrated and boiled up into the liquid until it was neither appetizing nor funny.

We never did know if it was the recipe we used or the method, but I suppose it was due in great part to inexperience. The episode has since furnished us with many laughs but to this day I can scarcely wait to peek into the kettle to see if the dumplings are still there.

My mother often tells of the first cake she made. She chose to make the cake one afternoon when her parents went to town. What a fortunate decision that was! When she took the cake from the oven, it had not raised at all. Her five brothers ate it like a pudding from the pan. She has since said she knows she must have forgotten to add the baking powder or soda. At the time it was almost too painful an experience to talk about.

Experience may be the best teacher but it is not the most economical way to get an education. It can also be hilarious as well as heartbreaking. Nonetheless, all of us do learn a few of our lessons by experience.

Back To Candles

Greenwood, Neb.

As the wife of a farmer, I would like to suggest that Carl Curtis do some studying and know what the farmer's needs are or that he get out of the Senate and quit trying to fool the public. He voted against the farm program but what is even worse, has never come up with a better answer.

The farmer is a professional man just like the doctor or lawyer. It is about time we had someone in Washington who has an interest and capabilities of more sound thinking than the story of Bobby Baker. I don't approve of Bobby, either, but there are people in Washington hired to handle these problems and they can do well without the services of our senator who may have seniority, but what good does it do him?

I enjoy my electric appliances but I know Curtis has voted against REA appropriations, as well. Maybe he would like to see the farmer milking by hand. We could milk with one hand and hold a candle with the other.

I'm sick of him.

Looking To Future

Guide Rock, Neb.

I never cease to be amazed at the expert anti-communists who know so little about communism and its causes that they attack as liberal the very things that would protect this country from communism.

I have made it a practice to read from cover to cover every available piece of "literature" which these people distribute. It is all very much alike. It sees communism running in under every door of our government. It views with alarm — big government, federal spending and public health measures. It classifies as liberal and therefore communistic any progressive legislation, especially that which would give the poor people a chance to elevate themselves in our society.

There are variations in their approaches, but to the intelligent person who takes time to read their ultra-conservative, anti-communist junk, the message is clear — the wealthy should stay wealthy, the poor should stay poor, the government should be small enough to be controlled by the few wealthy people of the country, and Americans should be kept suspicious of their leaders and their neighbors.

A recent letter in this column is a case in point. The reader is led through a mile of trash in the hope that he will decide that the governor is somehow responsible for some dire communist conspiracy — and all because some unnamed source claims that some unmarked flour was fed to an unidentified Russian.

If this writer were informed about communism as he would like to have us believe, he would surely have told us that no country has ever been taken over by communism when the people were fed, employed and had hope for the future. He would have told you that communists take over countries where there is too little government, not too much government. Yes, and he would have told us that in the depression years of the thirties, the swift action of a liberal named Franklin D. Roosevelt prevented this country from falling to the same fate that befell Russia, China and Cuba.

If the people of Nebraska are worried about communism, they will work for a future where there is no poverty, disease and oppression. The kind of future into which, I believe, our governor is trying to lead us.

Defining Parents

Lincoln, Neb.

Communism is unacceptable way of life to Americans, and we are justitfied in fighting it. But since prevention is better than a cure, why don't we learn to prevent doing the things that communism thrives on?

Communism thrives on disorder. We know that order begins in the home. Today we are marrying at a very early age. In fact, we are not old enough to vote. After marriage, we find out that we haven't had our fling. So we hire a baby-sitter and go out to have what we call fun. The baby is put on a bottle, so it isn't necessary for Mother to be around much of the time. The baby learns to love the bottle. Later when it is big enough to ride a three-wheeler, it has graduated to pop bottle and one will see it going down the sidewalk with a bottle in one hand and the steering device in the other. Later when he becomes a teenager, he has the bottle on the hip. Then he's "in" for sure, sometimes even for life.

And we wonder why our youth don't respect authority. The trouble is they can't tell their parents from a pop bottle. When man turns from nature, he pays the price—and the price is high.

Do They Agree?

Omaha, Neb.

Speaking before Omaha's right-wing American Citizen's Forum in 1963, Ronald Reagan denounced democracy as "mob rule." He blamed democracy for everything he thought was wrong with America —TVA, the income tax, the Peace Crops, and every attempt of our elected representatives to meet our country's responsibilities at home and abroad. He said we must change the situation, "by force, if necessary!"

The communists oppose democracy and advocate forceful overthrow of our government. The John Birch Society condemns democracy and advocates the use of communist tactics.

Do Nebraska Republicans agree with the stated position of their Founders Day speaker? (I.e., where do you stand, Sirs?)

'Compressed' English Courses Planned At NU

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

Compressed English courses are slated for one-half of next year's University of Nebraska freshmen, according to present plans of the NU English Department.

Under the new system, 1,250 of the expected 5,000 freshmen will be given a full year's English course. (Six hours), during the first semester and take no English the second term. Another 1,250 will wait until second semester to take the full-year freshmen English course.

The other 2,500 are to enroll in the normal freshman English classes, taking three hours both semesters.

Prof. Ned Hedges, director of freshman English, said the new system is being tried to "take care of the enrollment increase within the budget" as well as to experiment with teaching material in a concentrated manner.

The instructors each will have two classes of 30 students or a total of 60 each semester English professors previously have had four classes of 25 students in each for the full year.

In the new system an instructor will be able to complete freshmen English for 120 students per year instead of the usual 100.

The new course will feature daily class meetings with a sixth hour during the week arranged for small group or individual conferences, he said. Although participating freshmen will not have the sixth hour every week, the "amount of instruction in individual help over the year will be equivalent to spending that sixth hour in a classroom and will be much more fruitful," Hedges predicted.

While the new system is expected to increase an instructor's time of actual teaching since it requires opportunity for individual instruction, the compressed courses should decrease class preparation, it was noted.

Change In Proportion

For the instructor, it will amount to a change in the proportion of time for teaching and preparation, Hedges said.

The theory of "concentrating material into a briefer time is, according to a majority of study results I have seen, a sound educational policy," Hedges said.

"The student is able to learn as much and retain it better," he said, pointing out the advantages of daily presentation

Emphasizing that the compressed course system is an experiment, Hedges said that an intensive evaluation would be made at the end of the year.

Judge Blocks Railway Strike

Washington (UPI)—Federal Judge Alexander Holtzoff Monday blocked the possibility of a nationwide rail strike this week.

The judge issued a temporary injunction, running until April 5, barring the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen (BLFE) from striking to force the railroads to restore the jobs of about 20,000 firemen and trainmen eliminated under a federal arbitration award.

The BLFE had not called a strike, but had hinted broadly at that possibility upon expiration at 11:01 p.m. CST Wednesday of the award involving firemen's jobs.

The union contends that elimination of firemen on trains reduces the crew dangerously and says many accidents have happened as a result. The railroads deny this.

Holtzoff called a hearing for April 4, the day before expiration of his restraining order. Both the railroads and the firemen's union will have a chance to argue whether the anti-strike injunction should be made permanent.

KREBIOZEN SIT-IN

Police forcibly removed some of a group of 40 who staged an all-day sit-in Monday at Food and Drug Administration headquarters. Above Max Rosenthal is carried away. He is president of the Brooklyn chapter of the Citizens Committee for Cancer Survivors on Krebiozen. The demonstrators were seeking approval of interstate distribution of the controversial anticancer substance.

Mars, Venus Exploring Can Begin

Baltimore, Md. (AP)—A space scientist said Monday a manned interplanetary exploratory program for Venus and Mars "can be initiated on the basis of knowledge available today, utilizing derivatives of hardware now in existence."

"Our studies have shown that it would be technically feasible to develop these systems for initial operational use by the mid-1970's withi nterplanetary landing missions a distinct possibility in the early 1980s," said M. W. Jack Bell, director of manned space advance systems for North American Aviation.

Bell's report to a joint meeting of the American Astronautical Society and the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics was the first to be so optimistic. The earliest previous estimates were 1973 for unmanned landings and no sooner than 1985 for manned landings.

Bell said Saturn 5 launch vehicles could place the interplanetary space craft — consisting of a mission module, an earth re-entry module and a propulsion module—in parking orbit around the earth.

Two liquid oxygen tankers wouold be placed in orbit close to each other, then the orbital launch vehicle would rendezvous in orbit with them, Bell said. The space craft then would be docked to the injection stage and liquid oxygen transferred from the tankers.

After completing checkout in orbit, the space craft and crew would be injected into the required interplanetary transfer trajectory.

Payloads of 150,000 to 400,000 pounds could be put in interplanetary orbit this way, Bell said. The Mariner spacecraft which made a fly-by of Mars last summer weighed only 500 pounds.

Bell said the Apollo command module could with minor modifications be used for such interplanetary travel.

Winds, Telemetry Stop OAO Launch

Cape Kennedy (UPI)—High upper atmosphere winds and a rocket telemetry problem forced a two-day launch postponement Monday of a stargazing satellite.

Busy teams went ahead with plans to send an Atlas-Centaur rocket on an important test flight Tuesday.

The 3,900-pound Orbiting Astronomical Observatory (OAO) came within seven minutes of blastoff Monday afternoon on its 117-foot Atlas-Agena rocket before the shot was scrubbed.

The satellite is equipped with 10 telescopic eyes to give man a new view of the universe and its mysteries. It is the heaviest and most complex scientific spacecraft built by the United States.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Plural Opinions Recommended If Medical Problem Is Serious

By ROBERT PETERSON

It's important to listen to your doctor. But it's even more important to seek plural opinions when serious medical problems are indicated.

Over the years I've received hundreds of letters from readers telling of conflicting diagnoses and opinions they've received from different physicians.

Stomach pains have been diagnosed by one doctor as due to cancer, and by another as due to acidity. Dizziness has been diagnosed by one doctor as incipient Parkinson's Disease, and by another as nerves. And chest pains are as frequently attributed to indigestion as to heart trouble.

When I was 35 years old I had a peptic ulcer which hemorrhaged. The internal bleeding stopped of its own accord, but my doctor was firm in saying we must proceed with surgery and removal of part of my duodenum to forestall the possibility of further bleeding. He even went so far as to reserve an operating room at the local hospital.

But a friend urged me to consult another doctor, who examined me thoroughly and advised against surgery. He suggested instead that I go on an ulcer diet for a year, that I get to bed every night by 10 o'clock, and that I try to adopt a more tranquil attitude toward life.

Well, I took the latter's advice. The ulcer cured itself within six months, and I've had no recurrence of the problem for more than 10 years now.

One of these days I want to stop and see that first physician and ask why he was so insistent that I have part of my stomach removed.

Here's a letter from a 71-year-old man who wonders how many dentists needlessly urge elders to have their teeth removed. "I had a badly abscessed tooth," he writes, "so I went to a dentist who took one look and began talking dentures. He said that at my age it was foolish to hang on to teeth which were sure to give me increasing trouble. I was all set to tell him to pull 'em, when common sense told me to get a second dentist's opinion.

"So I went to another dentist who looked over my teeth and said they weren't bad at all. He gave me an antibiotic that healed the abscessed tooth. Then he filled a bad cavity in that tooth, and several others. He cleaned my teeth and sent me on my way with the happy news that my teeth should last me the rest of my life.

"My teeth aren't exactly beautiful, but they meet my needs for chewing — and they're all mine. I wish you'd print this to remind folks of the importance of getting a second opinion before doing something so drastic as having all their teeth removed."

Physicians, surgeons and dentists are mighty special people. It would be frightening to face life in a world without their special skills. But they're only human. Personal beliefs and experiences may lead one doctor to conclusions which contradict those of other doctors. That's why it's a good idea to get two or three opinions before proceeding with major medical repairs.

If you would like a booklet "Basic Health Rules for Older People" write to Robert Peterson, "Life Begins at Forty," c o The Lincoln Star, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

City-County Building Protected By Zoning

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

An ordinance setting up F restricted zoning on property surrounding the City-County Building site at 10th and J was passed by the City Council Monday.

The change of zone effects all land one-half block back from the Courthouse rectangle bounded by 9th and 10th, H and K.

Permitted under the F restricted classification are multiple dwellings, office buildings and "accessory buildings and uses". Some uses in the area now permitted under other zoning districts will become non-conforming and major structural changes will not be allowed.

Owners of non-conforming buildings and uses appeared at the hearing to oppose the zoning change.

Councilman Lloyd Hinkley said the change to more restrictive zoning was made "to protect the $5 million City-County Building".

The City-County Planning Commission had recommended in February that the council hold off on any zoning changes until plans for the development of J St. and 15th St. are made final.

Await Report

However, the commission noted that "if this is not a satisfactory report, as required within 30 days, we recommend that no change in zoning be made.

Council members said that rezoning of areas along J, between the building site and the Capitol, will be considered later.

In other action, the council failed by one vote to pass an amended ordinance which would allow minors to work in premises licensed for the sale and consumption of liquor and beer, but would prohibit them from selling, serving or handling alcohol.

Changed

The measure as originally prepared also would have prohibited minors under 16 from being in licensed premises either as employes or patrons past 9 p.m. unless accompanied by parents or guardians.

Councilman John Mason proposed an amendment which would remove city-imposed age limits and it was approved, 4-3, with Mayor Dean Petersen voting in favor to break a tie. Councilman Carroll Thompson was absent.

Voting against the amendment were council members Mrs. Helen Boosalis, John Comstock and Lloyd Hinkley. In favor were Mason, Ervin Peterson and John Selleck.

Vote Voided

However, when the amended ordinance came to a vote, Comstock had been excused from the meeting, thus break-the previous tie and voiding the mayor's vote.

The ordinance will be layed over until four votes either for or against can be mustered.

Proponents of the ordinance have argued that the present city prohibition against minors working in licensed premises effects an estimated 1,400 youths who work as kitchen help, bus boys and waiters in the city's country clubs, non-profit and bottle clubs and hotels.

Student Calls For Minimum Housing Code

University of Nebraska Student Senate member Terry Schaaf Monday asked the City Council to pass a minimum housing standards code "in light of the deplorable condition of much of the city's rental housing."

Schaaf, chairman of the senate's public issues committee, gave the council a report on international student housing which asked for "immediate action on instituting a study of housing near the campus in the hope of establishing minimum standards throughout the city."

He said the senate's primary concern is with foreign students who must find satisfactory lodging close to the university, either because they have not applied early enough for dormitory space, are married, or are not permitted by visa to own cars.

Mayor Dean Petersen noted that the council has been considering an inclusive minimum standards code. The present city code applies only to new structures.

City Council For Separate Cycle License

A resolution asking the legislature to pass a law requiring motorcycle operators to qualify for a separate license was adopted by the City Council Monday.

The council made its interest in such a law known last week after a public hearing concerning safety regulations for the operators and passengers of motor-driven cycles and bikes

The law, as proposed by the council, would require "licensing the operators of motor-driven cycles by a separate license for that operation only."

The only requirement now is a standard drivers license.

An ordinance repealing the city law requiring the use of crash helmets at speeds in excess of 25 miles per hour was introduced Monday.

The repeal ordinance is also a result of last week's public hearing attended by 30-40 motorcycle operators.

Rioters Caused $2,000 Damage To Douglas Jail

Omaha (AP) — Courthouse Supt. Al Rochford said Monday about $2,000 worth of damage was caused by rioting prisoners in the Douglas County jail last week.

Rochford told the County Board there was "extensive damage" to the plumbing in the jail. Four inmates have been charged with malicious destruction of property.

Sheriff's officials said 147 men were in the riot area at the time.

Lenient Beautification Rules Eyed

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The State Highway Advisory Commission agreed Monday to work for lenient regulations in the implementation of the federal government's highway beautification program.

Commission Chairman J. R. McBride of Minden will present the commission's position next Tuesday before a U.S. Bureau of Public Roads hearing in Lincoln.

State Engineer John Hossack said some of the proposed regulations—particularly those covering the size and number of permissible signs in commercial areas—are too restrictive.

Opposed

Commission members said they generally opposed the highway beautification program because funds used for the program should be spent to improve the roads themselves.

"Nothing can be more beautiful to a Nebraskan than improving a road in his area," McBride said.

Hossack said the department would propose to the 1967 Legislature a tightening of legislation on junkyards and dumps and their screening with trees and plantings.

In other action, design engineer Don Coffey outlined an estimated $431,000 plan to relocate the State 63 access route to Ashland from U. S. 6 It would include a bridge and railroad-grade separation structure.

Ashland wants the new one-mile access route and will attempt to raise the estimated local share of $150,000.

However, Coffey said the project "is at least two years away because of flood studies underway by the Corps of Engineers."

Support Projects

The commission was urged by delegations to support the following highway projects, most of them in Southwest Nebraska:

—extension of State 25 from Trenton north to U S 6 and relocation of the highway from Hayes Center northwest to connect with State 23
—improvement of State 136 from Oxford to Edison and from Edison to U.S. 6
—Improvement of a half mile long spur connecting Juanita with State 306.
—improvement of State 233 from Arapahoe south to the Kansas state line
—improvement of State 17 from Culbertson south to the Kansas line
—widening and improvement of State 15 through Schuyler

The commission approved the relocation of 13 miles of U.S. 77 south from its State 33 junction and the widening of U.S. 6-34 through Minden.

Hearings Set

Public hearings were scheduled by the commission for April 11, 9:30 a.m., in Benkleman on the proposed relocation of four miles of U.S. 34 east of Benkleman and at 2 p.m. in Cambridge for the proposed relocation of U.S. 34 between Cambridge and Holbrook.

An April 15 hearing was set for Seward on the proposed relocation of State 15 between Interstate 80 and U.S. 34 at Utica.

NU Gets U.S. Fellowship To Train 20 Experienced English Teachers

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

One of four Experienced Teacher Fellowship Programs sponsored by the U.S. Office of Education this summer has been awarded to the University of Nebraska for English studies, Dr. Paul A. Olson, professor of English, announced here Monday.

Under Title V of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) the University was awarded some $200,000 for a full year of graduate study in English for 20 experienced teachers. In addition, an application for $40,000 in development funds is to be submitted soon, Olson reported.

Teachers from all over the nation, identified as potential leaders in school systems, take courses, appropriate to the grade levels served, in linguistics, literature, rhetoric and composition, and cognitive theory and curriculum development.

Institutions employing the English teachers should commit themselves to using the graduate students after the year's intensive study in "leadership roles," Olson said.

Applications April

Olson, who is also co-director of the Nebraska English Curriculum Center, reported that all applications for the study are due April 5, and the 20 students will be chosen by April 15.

Eligible for the ESEA program are city or county wide coordinators of English, grades Kindergarten through 12, state department language arts specialists, state department English specialists, high school English department chairmen, key classroom teachers in language arts or English, and persons displayed as employes of local educational agencies due to the Civil Rights Act.

Each participant is to be paid a tax-free stipend of $4,000 for himself and $500 for each dependent up to four for the academic year. An additional $800 for himself and $100 for each dependent up to four will be paid during the 1967 summer session.

Separate seminars for elementary and secondary teachers are slated to introduce the graduate students to the classroom implications of seminal thinking in linguistics, literature, composition and curriculum development.

In the sessions "participants will be assisted in developing a scholarly attitude toward new materials and made aware of and taught how to deal with the obstacles which conventionally stand in the way of educational change," Olson pointed out.

During one semester the 20 experiended teachers will observe new materials and teaching practices in Lincoln and Omaha Westside experimental schools and may teach a unit of a new English or language arts curriculum.

The other three Experienced Teacher Fellowship Programs are to be held in California and Illinois.

NSEA Executive Committee Votes Confidence In Lynch

Executive committee members of the Nebraska State Education Association (NSEA) gave their executive secretary, John Lynch, a vote of confidence at their regular meeting here.

A statement issued by the executive committee also said, "The executive committee will review and develop guidelines of procedure concerning the expression of the official positions of the NSEA.

"Matters concerning professional relations should be channeled through the officially elected representatives of the executive committee."

The decision followed consideration of a resolution from the Lincoln Education Association (LEA) asking that the committee take "appropriate action" in view of "serious doubt that he (Lynch) can thoroughly and honestly represent Lincoln teachers."

The LEA resolution cited published statements Lynch made concerning a 12-month school year and teacher salaries which the LEA considered derogatory to teachers.

NSEA President Mrs. Helen Krause said the statement "speaks for itself," but noted that "we are not muzzling our people."

Lynch declined comment on the executive committee action.

Man Bound Over After Hearing On Break-In Charges

James Zimmerman was bound over to Federal District Court Monday after a preliminary hearing before U.S. Commissioner C. M. Pierson in connection with a break-in at the U.S. Post Office at Holland.

Zimmerman, of 2704 P, charged with forcibly breaking into a U.S. Post Office with intent to commit larceny, was located by Crete police March 19 after Lancaster County Deputy Sheriffs had spied a subject standing behind the Linsfelt Hardware and Implement Co. where the post office boxes are located.

According to the sheriff's report, the subject ducked behind the post office boxes when the spotlight hit him and fled when the deputies entered the store.

Commissioner Pierson set bond for Zimmerman at $2,000.

Seek Damages In Car-Cycle Crash

A $44,000 damage suit was filed Monday in Lancaster District Court by Helen Mierkalns in behalf of her daughter, Dace E. Grats, against Roger W. Allgood in connection with a Sept. 12, 1965, car-motorcycle accident.

The plaintiffs allege negligence on the part of Allgood, when the car he was driving collided wth a motorcycle on which Miss Grats was a passenger at 26th and C.

Eye Retraining Of Elementary School Teachers

Authorities in linguistics, psychology, language arts and reading met here in a Uninversity of Nebraska conference on English Language Arts Institutes to prepare proposals for retraining elementary school teachers.

With a $20,000 grant from the U.S. Office of Education the conference participants investigated the effect of National Defense Education Act-sponsored institutes and sought to identify requirements for retraining institutes and in-service curriculum.

For four days some 60 public school and college-level persons "worked over questions as to how America's teachers of grades 1-6 might be trained (or better, retrained) as scholars and teachers of the English language and its resources," according to Dr. Paul Olson, co-director of the Nebraska English Curriculum Center.

BEATRICE SEWER LINE PROPOSAL BOGS DOWN

Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Beatrice—Plans to run some 1,600 feet of sewer line across the Gage County Fairgrounds primarily to serve the new Pershing College have bogged down in a temporary stalemate.

The City Council and Gage County Agricultural Society have agreed, however, to attempt to renegotiate a dispute involving more than $5,000. The organization balked when it was apparent that amount would be assessed against it as a property owner for a trunk line running to the west-side college.

"We want to cooperate with both the city and college," explained Robert Baumfalk, attorney and fair board member, "but as a practical matter we just don't have the money."

Swap

The boards' offer to pay $150 for hook-ups—in effect a swap for easements in crossing the land—had brought a recommendation from the city's board of public works to start easement condemnation. After lengthy council discussion Baumfalk agreed to further committee discussion, any compromises subject to full board approval.

Baumfalk noted that the Fair Board would like five sewer hookups, but objects to full assessment since it is "supported almost altogether by taxes." Some councilmen replied that the improvement must be financed either from county taxes or city sewer use fees "so it's just a matter of robbing Peter to pay Paul."

A side issue was an argument by Councilmen Ray Elwood and Eldon Gerdes that the college will be escaping its rightful share of cost. Paul Kollekowski countered, however, that "the college is getting the same treatment as any other housing development."

In other action, the council set for April 11 hearing a request to rezone the old west school property (on West Court) from residential to B1 business. Co-owner Willie Lawler said it is unsuitable for residential development and that both a hamburger drive-in and office supply store are interested in the location.

Chairman Clarence Gale of the Planning and Zoning Commission said that group had rejected the request 4-3 because "spot zoning is illegal and never in the best interests of a city." He added that the area is surrounded by several blocks of residences.

On First Reading

The proposal was placed on first reading after another opinion that spot zoning's legality depends upon individual circumstances. City Atty. Anne Carstens observed that it "had been held on many occasions to be illegal."

Failing on final reading by a 3-3-1 vote was an ordinance to prohibit the dumping of water in streets and alleys. Opponents said it was aimed only at water air conditioners, would be unenforceable and "isn't fair to everyone."

A six-member advisory committee was appointed to study possible ward redistricting after the council generally agreed there are population disparities in the 4-ward system.

End Of Saucer Secrecy Urged

Washington (AP)—The National Investigations Committee on Aerial Phenomena called on the government Monday to release all information it has on unidentified flying objects.

"There is substantial evidence we are being observed by some sort of device which is far more advanced than anything we have and is controlled by a superior civilization," Donald E. Keyhoe told a news conference.

"These things are real and under intelligent control," the retired Marine major added.

He urged the Air Force to "end the secrecy on sightings and stop ridiculing the competent witnesses" who have seen them. Keyhoe, author of several books on the subject, is director of NICAP.

Backs Probe Call

He supported the call by House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan for a congressional investigation of the sighting reports.

The only authoritative explanation of the rash of recent sightings so far has been by Dr. J. Allen Hynek, a Northwestern University astrophysicist and Air Force consultant, who said some probably were swamp gases released in spring thaws.

Keyhoe was asked if the theory is valid that the UFOs came from outer space and how could people be sure they do not contain intelligent beings.

"The idea of beings emerging is entirely possible," he said, noting there is at least one case—in New Mexico in April 1964 — in which two small, suited occupants were reported sighted near a UFO. "We have no reason to believe they were green."

Keyhoe said that although mysterious objects have been observed in space for 200 years, such sightings have become more numerous since the first atomic bomb explosion in 1945.

Fears

He said government secrecy initially stemmed from a fear the Russians might be ahead of the United States in space. After officials decided this was not the case, he said, it was decided to withhold information for fear of frightening the people by revealing there was another, more advanced civilization somewhere in space.

"Dangers from official secrecy are increasing," NICAP said in a statement distributed at the news conference.

"Several times, airline captains have had to maneuver violently to avoid collisions with UFOs, resulting in passenger injuries. There is a growing risk of accidental war from mistaking UFO formations for a secret enemy attack."

NASA Rocket Technician Sees Hovering Light

Detroit (AP)—A rocket technician for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, William G Kartlick, said Monday he saw a bright light above Ann Arbor, Mich., which was "very, very intense" and "like looking directly into a neon sign."

Kartlick, who works in a NASA lab at Ann Arbor, said he saw the light, which gave off "no glow or sparks," Friday night.

Emile Grenier, an Ann Arbor aeronautical engineer, said he saw a light in the same area at about the same time.

Both said the light hovered about 1,000 feet above the ground before dipping down and disappearing behind a building.

One weekend sighting—that of a strange, bright light by a policeman near Ohio's Wright-Patterson Air Force Base — was declared by Air Force and Ohio authorities Monday to be probably the planet Venus, or a star.

Kenesaw Phone Co. Sale To LT&T Wins Approval

The State Railway Commission announced Monday it has approved the sale of the Kenesaw Telephone Co. to the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co.

At the same time, the commission dropped the scheduled inquiry into the adequacy of telephone service furnished at the Kenesaw exchange in Central Nebraska near Hastings.

The rail unit said it took the action on its own motion, and after the Kenesaw Phone Co. asked its application be dismissed to revise dial rates and charges.

GEN. CEVDET SUNAY

Gen. Sunay 5th President Of Turkey

Istanbul, Turkey (AP)—Gen. Cevdet Sunay, a career soldier and political moderate, was sworn into office Monday as Turkey's fifth president since the nation became a republic in 1923.

Sunay, 66, was elected by secret ballot in a joint session of parliament to succeed President Cemal Gursel, 70, who is gravely ill.

Gursel is suffering from arteriosclerosis and thrombosis and has been in deep coma for 49 days after a series of strokes. He had been under treatment at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, but was flown back to Turkey Saturday after doctors said there was no hope for his recovery. Parliament then declared the presidency vacant.

The new president, like four of his five predecessors, is a military man who fought in Turkey's war of independence and rose through the ranks because of his intelligence and bravery.

Sunay, who belongs to no party, defeated former Col. Altarslan Turkesh, 49, for the presidency. Turkesh heads the Republican Peasants Nation Party, a splinter right-wing group.

China's Liu Greeted By Surging Crowd

Lahore, Pakistan (AP) — A surging crowd officially estimated at a million gave visiting President Liu Shao-Chi of Communist China a roaring welcome Monday in this old Northwest Frontier city.

Police swung clubs liberally to keep the crowd back, but it did no good. Pakistanis battled each other to get a glimpse of the Chinese chief of state.

At the airport when Liu arrived, welcomers started out strewing flower petals, then switched to throwing entire bunches of flowers and garlands, some of which landed on the heads of Chinese officials.

Police were unable to keep the official party together. Pakistan's foreign minister, Z. A. Bhutto, and West Pakistan Gov. Amir Mohammad Khan, were swept from their places by the crowd. Chinese security men trying to protect Liu also were swept aside and Liu himself was propelled past waiting dignitaries and a microphone where he was to speak.

For the first time since Liu arrived Saturday on a six-day visit shouts of "Yankee go home" went up along with shouts of welcome.

The Pakistanis, for years members of Western military pacts, feel China came to their rescue during last September's hostilities with India.

The United States adopted a neutral stance in the war, pressing both sides to stop fighting. The Chinese, however, created a diversion on India's northern frontier and prevented the full weight of the Indian army from falling on Pakistan.

Lahore was the only major Pakistani city threatened in September by Indian ground attack, and when the fighting finally ended, the front lines were about 12 miles outside the city.

Liu flew from Rawalpindi where he had two days of secret talks with President Mohammad Ayub Khan of Pakistan.

Six Counties Must Use Higher Values

State Tax Commissioner George Dworak said Monday six Sandhills counties must use new, higher land valuations when reporting their property for tax purposes this year.

The increased valuations resulted from state-approved land reappraisals last year.

Dworak said the State Justice Department informed him the new valuations must be used, even though many other Nebraska counties have not completed property reappraisals yet.

All Ordered Reappraised

The 1963 Legislature ordered all urban and rural land in Nebraska reappraised over a 12-year period. Most of the studies so far have increased the worth of the property.

The over-all valuation in the six Sandhills counties was raised from $75,932,110 to $100,213,995. There were some individual tract reductions, though.

The counties are Hooker, up 20%; Grant, up 40.1%; Arthur, up 62.3%; McPherson, up 54.5%; Thomas, up 26.5%, and Blaine, up 17.8%.

Dworak said six other counties not required to submit new valuation figures intend to use recent reappraisal results.

He identified them as Perkins, Deuel, Garden, Jefferson, Butler and Sarpy.

Review Mandatory

The State Board of Equalization headed by the governor must review the valuations before setting the state property tax each year.

Because of the higher valuations in some counties, the board may be forced to boost values in most other counties, or order blanket reductions for the reappraised units.

Last August, the board raised valuations in many counties. This resulted in several lawsuits, many of which are still pending in the State Supreme Court.

Impact Of Baby Boom Over; Enrollment Stable

Enrollments in Nebraska elementary and secondary schools will remain relatively stable during the next few years as schools have felt the last impact of the post-war baby boom, the annual statistical report of the State Education Department showed Monday.

The report said total enrollment in Nebraska schools as of Oct. 1 of last year, the start of the present school year, was 379,323, an increase of only 736 from the Oct. 1, 1964, total.

Public school enrollment actually dropped 355 during the year, the report noted.

Leveling off

The leveling off follows a period of years during which Nebraska schools experienced their greatest enrollment increases in history.

The department estimated the number of Nebraska high school graduates will average about 23,000 annully during the next several years, with the 1966 graduation total expected to slightly exceed 22,500.

The annual report also showed:

—2,547 public school districts existed in the state as of Oct. 1, 1965, 154 or 5.7% less than the 1964 total. Only 365 of the Nebraska districts offered a complete program of education from kindergarten through high school.

—The 1,871 Class One rural districts had an enrollment of 33,697 from kindergarten through the eighth grade, with 1,413 of the districts maintaining one-room schools with a pupil-teacher ratio of 11.2.

—Nebraska had two one-teacher rural schools that enrolled only one pupil each as of Oct. 1, 1965, 11 one-teacher rural schools with only two pupils each and 25 one-teacher schools enrolling only three pupils each.

—More than 80% of Nebraska's total public school enrollment is held by the accredited "A" and "AA" districts.

—There were 2,934 more pupils attending the top accredited schools during the present school year than were attending such schools during the 1964-65 year.

—Douglas, Lancaster and Sarpy Counties had the largest number of school age residents among Nebraska's counties at the start of this school year. Arthur, McPherson and Thomas counties had the least.

3 Teams Will Inspect Hospitals On Medicare

Three survey teams will begin inspecting Nebraska hospitals this week to see if they qualify for participation in medicare, with the deadline for completing the inspection task only two months away, State Medicare Administdator James Nordstrom said Monday.

Nordstrom said the State Health Department's recommendations on hospital qualification for medicare must be completed by June 1 to give federal officials time to review the data before hospital benefits under the health plan for elderly become effective July 1.

Nordstrom told the State Medicare Advisory Committee 32 of the 39 accredited hospitals and 69 of the 79 non-accredited hospitals in the state have indicated they wish to be certified for medicare participation.

Hesitant

He said other hospital administrators seem to be hesitant about applying for certification because of questions concerning federal reinbursement procedures for medicare costs.

"The survey job is a difficult and time consuming one, but I'm confident we'll finish by June 1," Nordstrom said. "Each survey team can handle about four hospitals a week, and more if necessary."

The accredited hospitals will not require on-the-spot inspections, he noted.

Nordstrom said only 10 hospitals in the state have utilization and review committees, required for medicare participation, which insure that hospital facilities are used for the maximum benefit of patients.

Dr. Harold Morgan of Lincoln, medical consultant for the Nebraska medicare program, said most hospital administrators in the state, and throughout most of the nation, have only a "fragmentary idea" of the utilization and review concept.

Two Physicians

He noted that each committee must include two physicians, one of whom cannot have any financial interest in the hospital involved, who are prohibited from reviewing the care of their own patients.

"We've got a number of hospitals with only one or two doctors, and some areas of the state with only one doctor," he said. "This is a real problem."

He said the State Medical Association is developing a plan to aid hospitals which might have difficulty forming utilization and review programs.

Dr. Morgan said medicare workshops for hospital administrators and physicians will be held in Lincoln April 11; Sidney April 19; North Platte April 20; Grand Island April 21, and Norfolk April 22.

State Health Director E. A. Rogers noted the medicare staff will have to launch inspections of nursing home facilities, home health services programs and independent laboratories after the hospital surveys are completed. Medicare programs for the latter three services become effective Jan. 1, 1967.

Morrison Dinner To Raise $36,000 For Campaign

The $100-a-plate appreciation dinner for Gov. Frank Morrison will raise about $36,000 for Morrison's U.S. Senate campaign, Democratic National Committeeman Marvin Werve reported Monday.

Omaha attorney Samuel Caniglia will serve as master of ceremonies for the event scheduled for Omaha's Ranch Bowl Saturday night.

Morrison will speak briefly.

No program is planned, Werve said.

$32,950 To Kearney

Kearney (UPI)—Kearney State College has been notified it will receive $32,950 for educational opportunity grants for the academic year 1966-67. The grants, made under the higher education act of 1965, provide from $200 to $800 per academic year for students in good standing.

WHY Grow Old?
for the too-thins

Josephine Lowman

I have written fairly recently about gaining weight, but I can't resist the following letters from readers.

"Mrs. Lowman, I'm sure that you're a good guy, but methinks you are a little prejudiced. Yes, that's what I think. You and most columnists always sympathize with the 'Hefty Hannas' but ignore the 'Skinny Minnies.' You always say, 'See your doctor.' We did and we are healthy but still thin.

"It's just as hard for us to gain eight or ten pounds as it is for others to lose them, especially in the right places. How about some menus and exercises for increasing measurements. Won't you help us? We need the same help the fat girls get. Hurry — only a few weeks until June."

I've been deluged recently by letters from underweights. Maybe it's because the swim season is approaching. Here's an excerpt from another letter. "When you finish your articles about losing weight, please do one on gaining weight, and even more important, building up certain areas of the body, such as bony shoulders, pipestem legs, and a flat chest. These problems are usual for thin girls."

Another. "I enjoy your column, but I don't often see advice for your thin readers. I am 23 years old, five feet one inch and a half tall and weigh 102 pounds. My bust measures 36 inches, waist 24 and hips 34 inches.

"I know I am underweight and have gotten very self-conscious about it. My face, legs and arms are pitiful; they are so thin. I eat enough, I think, but just can't seem to gain. I am very nervous and have three small children.

Remember these tricks when planning your diet. Add cream sauces to vegetables. Enjoy rich desserts. However, don't eat so much of this type food that you neglect your intake of protective foods. Add cream to the milk you drink and use it on desserts, in coffee and on cereal. You can enjoy the fatter meats and can have gravy along with them. Fried foods build up the calorie intake. Select cream soups instead of clear soups. Enjoy hot breads with butter.

BREAKFAST

Oatmeal with cream and sugar
Poached egg, with butter and a sprinkling of cheese on egg
Two pieces of toast with butter and jelly
Coffee with cream and sugar, if desired.
Glass of whole milk

MIDMORNING

8 ounce glass of orange juice

LUNCHEON

Tomato stuffed with cottage cheese or chicken salad, with mayonnaise
Rolls and butter
Celery sticks
8 ounce glass of whole milk
Piece of cake with ice cream

DINNER

Helping of roast or steak with gravy
Rolls
Yellow squash or greens of some kind
Potatoes au gratin
Salad of grapefruit and avocado with French dressing
Apple dumpling, with sauce

BEFORE RETIRING

Milkshake or milk with cream added

If you would like to have my Nine Day Gaining Diet send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this paper.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	Pass	1 ♥	Dble
5 ♦

Opening lead — five of spades.

There are times when declarer must take an unnatural play if that is the only method by which to bring home the contract. South had to do that in this hand and succeeded in scoring a game as a result.

First, a word about the bidding. South had a problem of sorts in selecting his opening bid. He gave thought to opening the bidding with five diamonds, but finally dismissed that possibility on the basis that his hand was too strong for a preemptive bid. He therefore opened with one diamond, thus increasing the chances of arriving at a slam if it developed that his partner had a good hand.

As matters turned out, South had his work cut out for him to make even five diamonds. West led a spade. Declarer played low from dummy and when East won the trick with the king, South was careful to drop his queen on it.

As a result of this play, South made the contract. He was later able to finesse the ten of spades and discard a heart on the ace of spades to bring himself to eleven tricks.

Had he played the four of spades on the king, he would have been able to score only one spade trick instead of two, and he would have gone down one eventually after losing a spade, a heart and a club.

It is of course unusual for a declarer to play a queen instead of a four on a trick he has already lost, but it is the kind of a play which any declarer who does not play automatically might make.

Is is probably true that most declarers with the South hand would have played low on the king from force of habit, but this merely indicates that you can't play good bridge without wearing your thinking cap at all times. Bridge is not a game for the lazy mind.

ABBY
if he prefers mother—see a lawyer

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What a mess my life is. After being a widow for nine years I never thought this could happen to me. Three months ago I married a bachelor in his 50s and now I am honeymooning alone in a big old creaky house, while the man I love is spending his nights (and most of his days) with his aged mother and her cat!

His mother says her rented house isn't nice enough for me, and she refuses to move into another house unless it's a duplex with her son. She can't be alone, neither is my husband financially able to keep up two establishments. I am desperate and heartbroken. I gave up my widow's naval pension for this torment. What shall I do?

NO NAME, PLS.

DEAR NO NAME: If the man you love loves you, let him prove it by living with you. Otherwise, talk to your lawyer. Perhaps you can get an annulment. And with this poor excuse for a marriage stricken from the records you can get your pension back.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: This is a note to "SQUEAMISH," who thinks her mother should use a separate tasting spoon for everything she tastes while cooking. How I laughed! A very good friend of mine is the chief cook at one of the most exclusive restaurants in New York, and how do you think HE goes about tasting sometimes 35 different things? He uses his index finger!

FRIEND OF JEAN'S

DEAR FRIEND: Be a pal and let me know for which restaurant your friend does his tasting. I would like to avoid it.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I am out of my mind, but I have a very important question to ask you, and I hope you will answer soon. My fiance and I plan to marry, and we want a small church wedding, but neither of us belongs to a church. Is it possible for us to have a church wedding under these circumstances? If so, which church would you recommend?

ENGAGED

DEAR ENGAGED: If you and your fiance were to join a church, which one would you join? You surely must have some preference because of your early training or for personal reasons. Speak to a minister of that church and ask him if it is possible to be married in his chapel. I am informed that it is not necessary to be a "member" in order to be married in the chapel of some churches.

CONFIDENTIAL TO CORNELL '45: The Marine Corps, which produced some verile specimens, had a saying. "The man who claims he is irresistible to all women needs little sleep, for he dreams while he is awake."

REAL ESTATE TIPS

Q. When I list my home I'm going to tell my REALTOR that if he approaches me with a lower offer he will have to lower his fee. Your opinion.

A. Tell him of your intension. Chances are NO REALTOR will want your listing. Try asking your dentist to lower his price on fillings or tell your Doctor he charges too much. Your REALTOR is entitled to his fee he will EARN it. If you accept a lower offer your REALTOR automatically gets a lower fee as his fee is based on a percentage of the SELLING PRICE. The percentage, however, will remain the same.

NEWS of the suburban areas

THE FLEET is in—from Philadelphia

As far as Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Allacher are concerned, the fleet is in. Their son-in-law and daughter, Lt., USN, and Mrs. Gary Rodgers have arrived from Philadelphia for a visit with Mrs. Rodgers' parents, and with Lt. Rodgers' father, Dr. C. Edwin Rodgers of Osmond, who came to Lincoln to greet his son and daughter-in-law.

Lt. Rodgers is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where he is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity. Mrs. Rodgers, prior to her marriage, was a coed on the Nebraska campus.

Attendants Announced

Announcing the members of her bridal party this morning is Miss Sue Jane White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle E. White, who will become the bride of Ronald Gale Chambers on Saturday, April 9.

Mrs. Anne Baurmeister of Whittier, Calif., will attend her sister as matron of honor, and the bridesmaid will be Miss Karen Johnson of Kansas City, Mo. Mrs. Michael McGrath and Mrs. Larry Clark will be the bridesmatrons.

Larry Clark will serve Mr. Chambers as best man, and the corps of ushers will include Mr. Chambers's brother, Douglas Chambers, Michael McGrath, Charles McDaniel and Paul Kugrens.

Honoring the bride-elect on Saturday will be Mrs. Russell Eichelberger who will be hostess at a 10 o'clock coffee and linen shower at her home. The guests will be members of Mrs. White's bridge club, which, incidentally, held its first meeting when the bride-elect was three weeks old.

The sudden snow which appeared early last week already has melted into oblivion and the rathed warm weekend helped vanish the unpleasant memories of that storm.

Suburban dwellers did considerable traveling during the weekend and everyone seemed to have a definite reason for making their trips. Birthday observances, a baptism celebration and a 25th wedding anniversary were the reasons for some of these out-of-town treks.

But March is drawing quickly to a close and the social talk is turning more towards thoughts of the Easter holiday — But we will be hearing of those festive plans at a later date.

FIENE HEIGHTS

Mr. and Mrs. Don Knutzen and their daughter, Lynne, honored another member of their family, Duran John on his baptismal day. Duran was baptized at the morning worship service at Trinity Lutheran Church. Several relatives were present for the ceremony and for the dinner which took place at Hotel Lincoln. Guests at the dinner honoring Duran John Knutzen were his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ganshorn of Beaver Crossing, and Mrs. Alma Knutzen of Cedar Bluffs. Also present were several of his uncles, aunts and cousins, Mr. and Mrs. William Schere and children, Kathy, Peggy and Matthew; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Knutzen all of Cedar Bluffs, and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Scheidt of Lincoln.

The YWCA convention activities attracted Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Yoos attention and was one of the reasons for their weekend visit to Lincoln. Mr. Yoos is president of the YWCA in Pittsburg, Kan. and came to the Lincoln convention to pick up new ideas as well as offer some suggestions that he had. Meanwhile, Mrs. Yoos was exchanging household tips with her sister, Mrs. Fred Witt. Mr. and Mrs. Yoos were the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Witt from Friday until Sunday.

And there also were house guests present at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Shanks the past weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bastrom of Yankton, S.D., arrived in Lincoln on Saturday for a visit with their son-in-law and daughter and with their two grandchildren, Sandi and Tom Shanks. Sunday was a day for celebrating as Mrs. Shanks observed a birthday. One of Mrs. Shanks anniversary gifts included Sunday dinner out, and dinner at the restaurant also included a birthday cake big enough for all six celebrators.

KESSLER HEIGHTS

Sunday travelers in the Kessler Heights area were Mr. and Mrs. James Lowe and family. Mr. and Mrs. Lowe motored to Fairbury on Sunday to help Mrs. Lowe's mother, Mrs. Emma Buchmeier, celebrate her birthday. Ice cream and cake were served at the home of Mrs. Lowe's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Buchmeier, in Gladstones. Also joining in on the festivities were Mrs. Lowe's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Jo Cook of Fairbudy.

TOWN TALK

Up to now the spring activity has been a little on the skimpy side, but this weekend business will pick up considerably —There's the Nebraska Art Association spring show and tea — the Junior League Children's Theater regional conference — and the rebirth of the golf season for the ladies. There are other activities, too —The Colonial Dancing Club and the Mr. and Mrs. Club—both dining and dancing on Friday evening at Hotel Lincoln—the Terpsichorean Dancing Club and the Saturday Night Club—each with a dinner dance on Saturday evening — The Terpsichorean party is at Hotel Lincoln, and the Saturday Nighters will swing and sway at Hotel Cornhusker.

• • •

There are homecomers to mention this morning also — Mr. and Mrs. Arnott Folsom returned home on Monday from Arizona where they have been vacationing at one of their favorite spots, Wild Horse Ranch. And before Arizona there was California—San Diego, to be specific. At San Diego there was an interesting meeting of zoo directors.

• • •

When we were discussing the approaching weekend we saved some news for our guest book—We hear that Capt. William Ludwick, USN, will be arriving from Washington, D.C. late on Friday evening for a brief visit with his father, Dr. Ralph Ludwick, and his brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Ludwick, Jr. Capt. Ludwick will return to Washington on Sunday.

• • •

Then there is news of an April bride-elect, Miss Sarah Jo Davie, whose marriage to Rex Swett will be solemnized on Tuesday evening, April 12, at the Church of the Holy Trinity, Episcopal.

Miss Davie makes announcement this morning of the bridal party which will include Miss Pam Neuharth of Evanston, Ill., as the maid of honor, and a bridesmaid fivesome composed of Miss Jan Pitsch, Miss Mary Swanson, Miss Brenda Brown and the bride-elect's two sisters, Miss Anne Davie and Miss Jane Davie. The flower girls, Jan Schultz and Joni Schultz of Rapid City, S.D., are nieces of the bridegroom.

Donald R. Schultz of Rapid City will serve Mr. Swett as best man, and the groomsmen will include Gene Tice, Charles Harrold and the bride-elect's brother, Fred G. Davie, Jr., all of Lincoln—and from Omaha, Donald Purcell, Philip Barth, Warren Barth and Larry Myers.

Home Ec Program

The annual Hospitality Day of the University of Nebraska College of Home Economics will be held Saturday on the east campus with high school girls throughout the state as special guests.

A program featuring a short talk by Mrs. Virginia Trotter, dean of the college, and a fashion show will be presented at 9 o'clock and again at 11:30 o'clock, and tours have been arranged of the two home management houses and of a mobile unit demonstrating construction for handicapped homemakers.

Chapter Luncheon

A program on the American Indians will be given by Mrs. Glenn Shoemaker at the April luncheon-meeting of Deborah Avery Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, to be held Friday at the Hotel Cornhusker.

Following the 12:30 o'clock luncheon, a report on the state conference will be given and the members will elect officers.

Auxiliary Luncheon

A luncheon hostess on Wednesday at the Lincoln Country Club will be Mrs. Jon T. Williams, president of the Lancaster County Medical Auxiliary, whose honored guests will be Mrs. J. Whitney Kelley, president, and Mrs. Fay Smith, president-elect of the state auxiliary, both of Omaha.

The after-luncheon hours will be spent making plans for the state auxiliary's annual spring convention.

The annual spring business meeting of the Lancaster County Medical Auxiliary will be held next Monday following luncheon at the University Club.

Mrs. Williams will preside at the meeting, during which reports will be given and new officers elected. Current officers of the auxiliary include Mrs. Williams; Mrs. Robert A. Hillyer, president-elect; Mrs. F. H. Hathaway, secretary; and Mrs. C. D. Bell, treasurer.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. Don't Trust Jockeys

With Fonner Park opening today, if you plan on consulting a jockey for your tips, "Don't," one of the nation's leading trainers warns.

"Most jockeys know very little about horses," charges trainer Buddy Jacobson in an article in the current issue of Sport Magazine.

"That's why I train most of my horses to be front-runners," he continues. "Running on the lead, it's much harder for a jockey to louse things up."

Open Qualifying At LCC

The Lincoln Country Club once again will be the site for local qualifying for the U.S. Open, the United States Golf Association revealed in announcing qualifying sites Monday.

Golfers will qualify at LCC May 23 with the local qualifiers going into the sectional qualifying round at Kansas City's Indian Hills Country Club, June 6.

Deadline for entering the 36-hole local qualifying is May 4 with the Open scheduled for the San Francisco Olympic Club June 16-19. Nebraska State Amateur champion Bob Astleford has qualified at LCC the last two years and has passed the sectional qualifying tests.

A year ago, he missed the 36-hole cutoff at St. Louis' Bellerive Country Club by a single stroke.

A change in the tourney format going into effect this year would have let Astleford play the final 36 a year ago. The USGA has increased the number from 50 to 60 who will survive the 36-hole cut at San Francisco.

Bad Timing With SI

Did you notice that the same week Sports Illustrated runs Gary Player as its cover picture with an article inside by Player, entitled. "Hit It My Way," Player failed to make the cut for the final 36 holes in the Citrus Open at Orlando, Fla.?

Marilynn Smith credited a new cross-handed putting grip with helping her win the Louise Suggs Tournament Sunday and the grip may become the latest golf innovation.

"A lot of the players on the (men's) tour are now using it." Buddy Williamson, son of the Lincoln Country Club pro, pointed out during a recent stopover in Lincoln while en route to his job in a Chicago suburb country club.

"It has been especially helpful to players on the tour who have never been good putters," Williamson adds. "I'm even using it myself and I like it."

Williamson is recuperating from a virus that bit him while he was playing on the Caribbean Tour.

Optimism At Kansas

Kansas coach Jack Mitchell is optimistic as he prepares for the start of spring football drills.

"We're going to have a good football team," he says. "Maybe we needed the bad year. It shook us up and we'll all work harder."

Mitchell admits much of his optimism is based on a healthy Bob Skahan, the KU quarterback who was sidelined much of last season with injuries.

No Huskers At KU

A list of 31 high school football players who have signed letters of intent at Kansas doesn't include a single Nebraskan.

The list includes 15 from Kansas, six from Missouri, four from Oklahoma, two from Illinois, and one each from Iowa, California, Virginia, and Texas.

The KU track team will be operating this spring without Bob Hanson, one of the conference's top sprinters and hurdlers. Hanson is due to undergo foot surgery during Easter vacation.

Inaugural Handicap Run Featured Fonner Race

. . . TWO DIVISIONS TO BE RUN

Grand Island—Astaconda in the first division and Prince Kem and C. V. McBride in the second division will carry top weights in the Fonner Park Inaugural Handicap as the Nebraska racing season opens at Fonner Park here today.

Astaconda was assigned 117 pounds in the first division of the 5½-furlong race for three-year-olds with a $2,000 purse.

The Mrs. Louie Glick-owned colt will be making his first start of the 1966 season after winning two of eight races last year for $7,030.

Astaconda's biggest win a year ago was the $7,500-added Ak-Sar-Ben Laddies Stakes by a head over Prince Kem.

Prince Kem shares top weight in the second division of the Inaugural Handicap with C. V. McBride, both carrying 120 pounds to the post.

Prince Kem, also making his first start of this year, will have Vic Forth in the saddle. Owned by Paul Kemling of Aurora, the horse won over $13,000 last year in finishing first five of the 12 times he went to the starting gate.

Fred Ecoffey will be aboard C. V. McBride in the second division of the feature.

C. V. McBride won three of six starts in 1965 with all three wins coming at Columbus and two of four starts this season. Both wins this season came by wide margins at Sunland Park in New Mexico.

The horse's last start was at Oaklawn Park where he was beaten by two and three-quarter lengths by He Jr., one of the Midwest's top three-year-olds.

The Fonner opening signals the start of a Nebraska racing season that doesn't end until seven months from today at Atokad Park in South Sioux City.

The Nebraska circuit will take the horses from Fonner to Ak-Sar-Ben, Lincoln, Columbus, Madison, Mitchell and Atokad.

Clay Heavy Favorite In Fight

. . . CONTROVERSIAL 'TITLE BOUT' TO BE HELD TONIGHT

Toronto (AP) — Cassius Clay will emerge from the swirling controversy about his military status long enough to defend his world heavyweight title against Canada's George Chuvalo Tuesday night in a bout widely ridiculed as a mismatch.

Although the Ontario Athletic Commission, in concert with the World Boxing Association, does not recognize Clay as champ, Chuvalo would be generally heralded as the titleholder if he should score an upset.

The odds against a Chuvalo victory are 7-1 or even higher, with a little action and even less interest. The sturdy Toronto bully boy has lost two of his last three bouts. His career record is an undistinguished 34-11-2 compared to Clay's perfect 22-0.

Chuvalo came into the picture as a desperation sub when Ernie Terrell, the WBA's champ, pulled out because of various complications, including a change in contract guarantees.

The Clay-Terrell bout was refused by New York, chased out of Chicago and finally settled in Toronto after brief flirtations with Maine, the Dakotas and various Canadian points.

There will be no big money in this contest which probably will attract about 10,000 to Maple Leaf Gardens, where the ring will be erected over the home ice of the Toronto Maple Leafs. A gate of about $150,000 is likely. The closed-circuit television chain, originally set for about 200 theaters, has shrunk to about 40.

The bout will be carried on radio only by the Canadian Broadcasting Co.

Clay gets 50% of everything and Chuvalo 20%. There is no firm estimate on their probable take but a good guess might be $200,000 for the champ and $50,000 for Chuvalo. The 15-round match is scheduled for 9:30 p.m. CST.

Clay, who prefers to be known by his Muslim name of Muhammad Ali, had been deferred by his Louisville draft board for failing mental aptitude sections of the examinations. He was reclassified 1-A Feb. 17.

"Why me?" Clay was quoted. "I am a member of the Muslims and we don't go to wars unless they are declared by Allah himself. I don't have no personal quarrel with them Viet Congs."

The remarks resulted in threats of picketing by various groups and cancelations of television by all the large theater chains.

Clay's request for a change of draft status because of his religion was denied March 17. His lawyer has said he will appeal. Clay, 24, left the United States under special permission of his draft board and presumably will return immediately after the bout.

Clay's bizarre career as champ included the one-punch knockout of Sonny Liston in a hockey rink at Lewiston, Maine, on March 25 of last year and the Nov. 22 bout with Floyd Patterson in Las Vegas in which he admitted he carried the exchamp before knocking him out in the 12th. Then there was the night he won the crown in Miami Beach when Liston quit in his corner after Clay had tried to quit earlier because he claimed he got something in his eye.

Klaas Happy With NU Finish In NCAA

By TOM HENDERSON
Star Sports Writer

"Before the meet I wouldn't have guessed that we would score over four or five points." University of Nebraska swimming coach Dick Klaas recalled after returning from the U.S. Air Force Academy, Colo., where his Huskers amassed 24 points and placed 15th in the 43rd Annual NCAA Swimming and Diving Championsh ps last weekend.

"But these kids just came on like gangbusters. They went into the meet knowing that the altitude (7250 feet) would be a factor, and they didn't let that bother them."

Noting that his team has never before performed well at that altitude, Klaas was amazed at the showing made by the Huskers.

"They came up with heir best times of the year in most instances," the veteran NU mentor observed. "The relay team and (Keefe) Lodwig's times were as good od better than they've ever had before. And (Steve) Sorensen came up with by far his best performance in the diving."

The 400-yard freestyle relay team of Dave Frank, Tom Nickerson, Rich Cordon, and Lodwig finished sixth with a 3:14.2 clocking in the finals. The team was timed in 3:13.1 in the prelims.

This performance was good enough to earn All-American honors, along with Lodwig's 10th place finish in the 50-yard freestyle, and Sorensen's 11th place in the diving competition.

"They won't actually come out with the All-American team for a couple of weeks yet," Klass says, "But some of it is preconceived." Klaas explains that the top 10 finishers in each of the swimming events qualify for All-American, while the 12 best in diving receive recognition.

Klass points with pride to Nebraska's five All-Americans, noting, "the last Nebraska swimmer to make All-American was Marvin Grimm in 1947, and that was also the last year we scored any points in this meet."

In fact the Big Eight Conference hasn't fared too well in the NCAA meet in recent years. "In the same meet last year, the whole Big Eight only had two points," Klaas observes.

"This year we had considerably better representation, and most of it was by Nebraska." The only other conference schools to score were Oklahoma with six points, and Kansas with three.

Klaas was especially impressed with Sorensen's diving performance. "We were doubtful that Steve was quite ready to compete in a national meet of this calibre," he states. "But his performance was just outstanding."

"He showed more consistency on his dives than he had all season." Klaas continues. "Of course this is his first year of competition, and I'm sure he'll get better."

Of Nebraska's five All-Americans, only Sorensen and Gordon, both sophomores, will return next year. "I sure hate to see them go," Klaas says of his three senior stars. "These three boys, throughout their three years of college competition, have all shown steady improvement and a good attitude."

Klaas also notes that Nebraska's 15th place finish was better than "every college that had beaten us this year with the exception of Wisconsin." Wisconsin tallied 48 points for 10th place. The school handed the Huskers one of its eight dual meet losses of the season.

Although Nebraska's swimming season is now over, Klaas plans one more stop for his All-Americans.

"We are presently planning to take these boys to the National AAU meet in Tampa, Fla., April 7-8-9," he offers, noting, however, that the trip is not yet definite.

Crews Sets Record At Arkansas Relays

. . . BIG 8 WINS 12 GOLD MEDALS

By Associated Press

Oklahoma State, Kansas State and Missouri flexed their muscles Saturday in the opening of the outdoor track season, the Arkansas Relays, held at Fayetteville.

The Cowboys captured three baton events while K-State notched the mile and 880 relays.

Missouri had the top individual performers as Eugene Crews won the shot put with a record heave and finished second to Kansas' Gary Schwartz in the discus. Other top Tiger thinclads were Steve Herndon, who set a record in the high jump, and speedsters Charlie Brown and Stephen Moran, who finished one—three in the 100-yard dash.

Big Eight entries dominated the meet, capturing 12 gold medals on the 18-event card.

Oklahoma State, with Arnold Droke, Chris McCubbins, Jim Metcalf and Tom Von Ruden carrying the baton, took their specialty, the two-mile relay, in 7:33.6.

Metcalf teamed with Ron Hester, Larry Linn and John Perry to give the Cowboys another gold medal in the sprint medley relay, as OSU scored the event in 3:21.1, breaking the old mark set by Southern Illinois of 3:23.8 in 1963.

In the four-mile relay, McCubbins and Tom Von Ruden were joined by Glenn Blakey and Ray Smith to win the third relay event for OSU, this one in 17:29.8.

Kansas State's foursome of Bill Selbee, Ron Moody, Kerry Fairchild and Don Payne sped to a record-tying 3:12.9 in taking the mile relay, while a team of Payne, Harold Wooten, Moody and Fairchild took first in the 880-yard relay.

Kansas had two winners. Schwartz tossed the discus 170 feet, 7 inches, to edge out Crews, and Tom Purma heaved the javelin 238 feet, 8 inches for first place.

Missouri's Brown clicked off a 9.9 to take the century.

The Tigers wound up with four gold medals, as Brown was joined by Crews' record toss of 59 feet, 10¼ inches in the shot put, Herndon's record high jump of 6 feet, 8¾ inches, and a distance medley squad composed of Robert Kneile, Bob Williams, Terry Thompson and Charles Conrad.

Marvin Bass Signs Three-Year Contract

Columbis, S.C. (AP)—Marvin Bass, heat football coach and athletic director at South Carolina, announced Monday he has signed a three-year contract as head coach and general manager of the Montreal team in the Continental Football League.

The contract calls for $75,000. Bass said "it is too good an offer to pass up."

POWERS TAKES SCORING TITLE AT CREIGHTON

Omaha — Tim Powers, a junior, topped Creighton basketball scoring for the past season with a 21.5 mark as the top three scorers were all underclassmen.

Peru Invitational Hosts Champions Of 1965 Meet

Peru (UPI) — Nearly 40 High Schools are expected to compete Friday and Saturday in the Second annual Peru State College Invitational High School track meet.

Among schools expected to return are Omaha Benson, defending Class A champion, an Sabetha, Kan., defending Class B title holder.

Entries will be taken through Wednesday of this week by meet director, coach Jack McIntire of Peru State.

This year's meet will be divided into three classes instead of two as in 1964. Class B and C will compete on Friday and class A on Saturday.

Benson's Randy Reeves Heads Pole Vault Field

. . . SIX VAULTERS OVER 12 FOOT MARK

Second in a Series
By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Unusual strength abounds in the jumping events this year as 24 of 60 youngsters who scored in the state high school track meet last year return to compete in the broad jump, high jump and pole vault this season.

Omaha Benson's Randy Reeves, finest vaulter in Nebraska prep history, returns for his final season after having posted new state bests of 13-4½ as a sophomore and 14-2½ as a junior. The latter mark came in a Junior Olympics meet after he had boosted the state record to 14-0 in the high school finals.

Reeves, soared 13-2½ in his initial test in the Greater Omaha Indoor meet, indicating he's ready to make a strong bid for a third straight state title.

He's not without competition, however. Kearney's John Randolph, who showed great promise as he topped 12 foot as a sophomore, appears set for a fine campaign after a disappointing junior season. Randolph cleared 13-5 in an indoor test early this season, fifth best vault in Nebraska prep history.

Another strong entry is Scott Nelson of Columbus, who shares eighth place on the all-time chart with a mark of 13-0.

Superior's Doug Anderson, Bertrand's Roger Sand, Ceresco's Dennis Ferry and Ken Meyers of Wilcox — who placed in state meet competition a year ago—are proven performers at the 12-foot level and could climb higher this year.

Heading an outstanding field of broad jumpers is Omaha Central's talented Joe Orduna, who stands 11th on the all-time list with a best of 22-11¾. He was just four inches short of this mark in his opening performance in the Greater Omaha Indoor meet last week.

Teammate Jim Hunter, who went 22-4½ last week, gives the Eagles a potent punch in the event. The two Central veterans and Grand Island's Rob Heimbuch, another returnee, eacch sailed past the 22-foot mark in the state meet last year.

A host of others who scored in the lower class state meets return.

Graduation claimed Scottsbluff high jumper Jack Todd, who put his name at the top of the list with a 6-5½ leap last year, but there are many capable hands returning in this event.

Omaha North's Kevin Bloomgren, who reached 6-3¾ as a junior, and Creighton Prep's Tom Muller, who finished right behind Bloomgren in the state meet, should fight it out for the top spot this year.

Others who will challenge include Bellevue's Lee Torrens and Battle Creek's Terry Wegner, the defending champion in Class C. Each cleared 6-2 last season.

Dodgers Blanked On Buc No-Hitter

By Associated Press

Pittsburgh pitchers Bob Veale and Luke Walker combined for the first no-hitter of the spring Monday as the Pirates defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-0. Only two Dodgers reached base in the exhibition baseball game.

Tommy Davis got aboard on an error in the fifth and Jeff Torborg on a walk in the sixth. Veale worked the first seven innings while Walker, a rookie, pitched the final two.

Ray Washburn and Tracy Stallard put together a six-hitter in the St. Louis Cards' 3-0 victory over the New York Mets. Washburn yielded five hits in seven innings and Stallard a single in the final two frames.

Roger Maris' first homer of the spring and Clete Boyer's fourth powered the New York Yankees to a 4-1 triumph over the Chicago White Sox, snapping the Sox' nine-game winning streak.

In other games, Philadelphia downed Baltimore 5-2, Cincinnati beat Atlanta 5-3, Houston trimmed its Oklahoma City farm club 6-1, San Francisco defeated the Chicago Cubs 6-3, and California whipped Cleveland 11-10.

The Phillies backed the fine pitching of Ray Culp and Darold Knowles with an 11-hit attack in beating the Orioles. John Collison, Clay Dalrymple and Bill White each collected two hits for Philadelphia while Boog Powell homered for Baltimore.

Tommy Helms singled in two runs in the eight for Cincinnati. The Reds broke a 2-2 tie with three runs in that inning. Milt Pappas was the winning pitcher while Dan Schneider lost for Atlanta.

Eddie Kasko hit and inside-the-park grand slam homer for Houston against its Pacific Coast League farm club. Claude Raymond, who pitched the first six innings, was the winner.

Len Gabrielson's three-run homer was the key hit for the Giants against the Cubs. Right-hander Ron Herbel picked up the victory.

Jim Fregosi, Bob Rodgers, Joe Adcock and Ed Kirkpatrick homered for the Angels, who got effective pitching from southpaw George Brunet. Luis Tiant, the Indians' right-hander, was the victim of California's five-run third inning uprising.

In a night game, Bob Chance drove in two runs with a single and a sacrifice fly in pacing the Washington Senators to a 3-2 victory over the Minnesota Twins. The Twins stranded 15 runners.

Pat Kelly To Wrestle At Tourney

Pat Kelly really is in the wrong sport, but he's not doing badly at it.

Kelly, a 25-year-old gas supply co-ordinator from Waukegan, Ill., will be in Lincoln next week for a try at the 171-pound title in the National Amateur Athletic Union Wrestling Tournament in Pershing Auditorium which runs Tuesday through Saturday.

Pat finished third in last year's national meet in San Francisco. But he has plenty of titles to his credit, including the inter-service championship in 1965.

He also is no stranger to Lincoln. Last December he wrestled over his weight and walked off with the 191-pound title at the Great Plains AAU meet. He narrowly missed being named the meet's outstanding wrestler.

He has been scrambling around the mat since 1954.

"I began as a freshman at Waukegan Township High School because they didn't have boxing available," he says.

Kelly quickly overcame that early fondness for boxing and concentrated on learning his holds. After two years at the University of Illinois and his Army tour, he has learned them well.

A man who enjoys wrestling for the sake of the sport and the relationships with other competitors, Kelly plans to continue with one goal in mind.

"I want to be the best at my weight," he declares.

Off the matt, Pat wants mainly "to be a decent sort of a chap." He has a head start toward that, too . . . unless you want to step into a mat with him and try to keep him from reaching that first goal.

Plainsmen Cindermen Meet SoDak

Any advance story about a track meet in March has to start with "weather permitting." This one is no different.

Weather permitting, Nebraska Wesleyan will open its outdoor cinder season Tuesday against South Dakota University in a dual meet at Magee Stadium.

The meet already has been postponed once. Scheduled for Saturday, it was delayed by the after-effects of last Tuesday's storm.

If it goes on as rescheduled, the meet will start with the field events at 3 p.m. The 120-yard high hurdles will begin action on the track at 3:30. South Dakota, champion of the strong North Central Conference last spring, will present a rugged test.

"They're tough," says Wesleyan coach Woody Greene, "but it's never hurt us."

Coyote standouts include sprinter Leonard Kliment, quartermilers Ron Weber and Jack Bong, middle-distance ace Frank Hoy, miler and half-miler Gerald Hermans and distance standout Dave Heffern, who was third in the NCAA cross-country meet last fall.

In addition to the weather, the condition of Wesleyan's track also is a question-mark. Resurfaced late last fall, the cinders have failed to settle properly because of lack of moisture during the winter.

Bing, Hudson Head CU All-Opponent Squad

Omaha — Syracuse's Dave Bing and Minnesota's Lou Hudson were unanimous choices on the all-opponent team selected by Creighton cagers.

Jerry Lee Wells and James Ware, both of Oklahoma City, along with Bob McIntyre of St. John's completed the first five. The second team was made up of Bradley's Joe Allen, Seattle's Tom Workman, Temple's Jim Williams, Iowa's Chris Pervall and Minnesota's Archie Clark.

Trailing Coaches Will Retire At Close Of Play

. . . AUERBACH NO SURPRISE; SEYMOUR SHOCKS

By Associated Press

Coaches on the losing end of the two series are one defeat away from retirement—and hoping that the home court disadvantage continues in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

Paul Seymour, whose Baltimore Bullets trail the St. Louis Hawks 2-0 in the Western Division first round, announced Monday that he was quitting after the playoffs to devote more time to his business interests.

Red Auerbach of the Boston Celtics, down 2-1 to the Cincinnati Royals in the East, made known some time ago that he was at the end of a phenomenally successful career that includes seven straight NBA championships and eight of the last nine.

Action resumes Wednesday night in the best-of-five series when the Hawks and Bullets play at St. Louis and the Royals and Celtics meet at Cincinnati. Oddly enough the sites favor the visiting teams—if forom is followed.

In the five playoff games to date, the visiting club has won every time.

For Auerbach losing is a rare experience—and being in the first round of the playoffs highly unusual. His Celtics won the regular-season Eastern title nine straight years, thus gaining a spot into the divisional finals, before being dethroned this season by the Philadelphia 76ers.

"We're not dead yet," Auerbach said after Boston was beaten 113-107 by the Royals Sunday. But the odds say it will be Cincinnati against the 76ers in the best-of-seven Eastern finals.

Richie Guerin of the Hawks also is making the retirement scene—the player-coach will be a coach only after the playoffs. But the 33-year-old veteran has been doing the job in his final fling, with iron-man stints as scorer, playmaker and sparkplug in the two victories at Baltimore.

Led by Guerin, the Hawks now are solid choices to reach the next plateau—the Western finals against the Los Angeles Lakers, first-place club in the regular season.

Jakarta Cabinet Gets Opposition

Jakarta, Indonesia (AP)—Opposition cropped up Monday against Indonesia's new 79-member cabinet. Students who sparked the ouster of President Sukarno's old cabinet were reported planning to demonstrate against it.

Kostram, an amalgamation of various political, social, economic, educational and student organizations, issued a statement saying it could not support the cabinet announced by Sukarno Sunday to cure Indonesia's economic and political ills.

"The present cabinet basically does not undergo any change towards simplifying the structure of government," the statement said. It charged the cabinet still is not fully freed of communist domination and "will not be capable of lowering prices to overcome the country's economic difficulties."

(A similar note of dissent came from the Voice of Free Indonesia, a clandestine anti-communist, anti-Sukarno radio broadcasting from West Java.)

Kostram complained that Sukarno, now believed to be only a figurehead, did not appreciably reduce the cabinet membership from the 100 members he had in his old pro-communist Chinese cabinet.

Violent student demonstrations led to a seizure of power March 11 by Lt. Gen. Suharto, an anticommunist. He now is Indonesia's strongman ruler.

The new cabinet contains an inner cabinet of six deputy premiers, 34 ministers and 39 deputies.

Suharto heads six ministries, giving him control of the armed forces, defense and security. Other key men in the cabinet are the sultan of Jogjakarta, Hamengku Buwono IX, and Adam Malik, who headed Murba, an anticommunist socialist organization banned in 1965.

REDS PROTEST CONSULATES ARE SHUT DOWN

Tokyo (AP)—Communist China said Tuesday its three consulates in Indonesia were forced to close because of what it called "unreasonable restrictions" imposed on them.

It demanded the Indonesian government lift the restrictions to enable the Chinese consulates to reopen.

Peking's official New China News Agency, said the demand was contained in a Chinese note delivered to the Indonesian foreign ministry by the Chinese embassy in Jakarta.

The note said Chinese consulates in Bandjarmasin, Makasar and Medan have been repeatedly raided and damaged by the right-wing forces.

GOP Holds Campaign Seminar

Monticello, Ill. (UPI)—Campaign managers from 14 Midwest states, including Nebraska, met Monday in the second session of the Republican Campaign Management Seminar sponsored by the GOP Na nar sponsored by the GOP National Committee.

The 125 managers were to hear lectures by Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., and Springfield, Ill., attorney Harlington Wood.

Raymond V. Humphreys, director of the seminar, said there would be no national political figures present at the four-day session.

"This is strictly for campaign managers," he said.

"The purpose of the seminar is to provide designated and prospective personnel with a comprehensive course of training in the principles and aspects of directing a campaign. The instruction will be provided by experienced professionals in various aspects of campaign management," he said.

Humphreys said the meeting was similar to one held in California which he described as "very successful."

Funds To Train Service Station Attendants OKd

Washington — Rep. Clair Callan Monday announced that the Department of Labor has approved a manpower development and training project designed to train 320 Nebraskans as service station attendants.

A federal grant of $123,020 will finance the project.

The training, which will begin in mid-April, will be conducted by the Nebraska Petroleum Marketers Association in Omaha, Lincoln and six outstate cities which are to be announced later.

One-half of the 320 trainees will be unemployed, while the other half already are engaged in some form of service station work.

Morrison Reappoints Porter To Racing Unit

Gov. Frank Morrison Monday announced the reappointment of Grover Porter of Nebraska City to the State Racing Commission, his fourth three-year term on the commission.

The governor also appointed Dr. Robert Anderson of Ainsworth to the governing board of educational service unit 14, covering Cherry, Brown, Rock and Keya Paha Counties, to complete the two-year term of Doran Anderson of Long Pine, who resigned.

State's Computer Whirrs Into Action

Gov. Frank Morrisin Monday pushed the "start" button on the state's newly installed electronic computer, inaugurating what he called "another new technique to assure continuing efficiency and economy in Nebraska state government."

The new IBM computer, which prints data at the rate of 1,100 lines per minute, will handle state budgetary and accounting control, coordination of welfare and medical assistance programs and more than 150 central accounting department jobs.

Morrison praised the 1965 Legislature for creating the new Department of Administrative Services to consolidate the data processing tasks of the 66 separate state agencies.

"The primary objective is to save tax dollars through efficient use of modern data processing technology," he said. "However, it will also improve utilization of human resources, freeing highly qualified specialists from clerical administrative work."

Hundreds of Tasks

Administrative Services Director Willard Townsend said the electronic computer through its "master program" will perform hundreds of tasks, switching in minute fractions of a second from job to job.

Each 2,400-foot magnetic tape reel can store the equivalent of 288,000 punch cards, or 28 cases weighing 58 pounds.

He said the computer's data processing tasks will include:

—Payroll of 20,200 state employes, including 22 sub-applications, taxes, insurance, Social Security, and others.

—One of the nation's most advanced systems for management of budgetary and fiscal matters, including the writing of 60,000 state warrants per month.

Handled Separately

—Coordinating the welfare and medical assistance programs now separately handled by 93 counties and involving an additional 25,000 checks per month.

—Handling more than 150 jobs now performed by punch card equipment, including licensing, real estate transfers, health statistics.

Townsend said he envisions a statewide teleprocessing network linking selected agencies directly to the computer system.

"Each agency, through its data communications terminal, would have direct access to the system to get answers or to have work performed," he said.

Governor Is Criticized By P. C. Anderson

Philip C. Anderson, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, said Monday "something really smells" in Gov. Frank Morrison's decision not to call a hearing on a wage rate dispute concerning work at a Fremont sewage treatment plant project.

The Crete businessman said the governor would call for such a hearing "if he is honestly interested in economy in government."

U.S. Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., asked Morrison whether he wanted a hearing on the matter, and the governor replied it was not his decision to make since no public funds are involved.

Anderson noted that State Sanitation Engineer T. A. Filipi has said the outcome of the wage dispute could influence wage rates at some 20 other Nebraska sewage plant construction projects.

The U.S. Labor Department has ordered the Fremont contractor to pay certain workers $4.22 an hour for work which Filipi said is normally done by $1.55 an hour laborers. Filipi said he will request a hearing if the matter is not settled soon.

Anderson asked in his statement:

"Is Morrison gagging his own experts, in this case Mr. Filipi?

"Is Morrison afraid of the evidence at a federal hearing in Nebraska where mayors and taxpayers from the affected communities can testify?

"Is Morrison undecided between friends in the Johnson administration, friends in the AFL-CIO and his constitutional duty to provide an economical administration?"

Morrison Says Curtis Gave Away State's Interests In Off-Shore Oil

Gov. Frank Morrison Monday accused Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., of giving away Nebraska's interests in off-shore oil to California during the mid-fifties.

"There's a bit of truth to Ronald Reagan's statement that Californians sleep easier because Carl Curtis is in the Senate," said Morrison, who is challenging Curtis for his senate seat.

"And the chief reason is because Curtis voted to give away Nebraska interests in hundreds of millions of dollars in off-shore oil and gas rights to the State of California," the governor added.

Reagan made the comment at the GOP Founders Day banquet here Saturday.

Morrison said California has collected $2 billion in royalties since the tideland oil bill approved in Congress.

"It was the most tragic giveway in the nation's history," he said, "and Sen. Curtis voted to divest Nebraska of any interest in the proposed tideland oil fund which would have helped Nebraska education of its youth."

"If I had been in Congress," Morrison said, "I would have led the fight against the tideland oil deal."

Milford Park Fund Okayed

Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall has approved a $10,000 federal grant to help finance acquisition of 13 acres for a municipal park at Milford, State Game Commission Director Mel Steen reported Monday.

It was the first federal grant approved for a local government in Nebraska under the 1964 Land and Water Conservation Fund Act. A number of Game Commission-sponsored projects have received funds.

Steen said the Game Commission and Milford will each supply $5,000 to match the federal grant, with development of the park to be financed under the same 50-50 ratio.

He said Milford officials plan to landscape and improve the land, including possible construction of a swimming pool.

Nebraska was allocated $1,183,420 in federal funds under the act for the current fiscal year.

Nebraska Trial Judges' Salaries Rank Low In U.S.

A survey by the American Judicature Society showed that salaries for Nebraska's general trial court judges rank near the bottom of the national scale.

The Cornhusker State was listed 27th in the 32 salary levels paid in the 50 states.

In the highest appeallate court level, Nebraska ranked 21st on a 25-level scale.

The survey said prevailing annual salary rates are $15,000 for general trial court judges, and $17,000 for appellate court judges.

Governor Will Discuss Tourism With Newsmen

Gov. Frank Morrison said Monday he will review Nebraska's tourist development program at a Wednesday morning news conference.

Morrison said he would cover the "whole subject," including problems, what's been done, where there are weaknesses.

Referring to an Omaha newspaper story published Sunday, the governor said the study on which the article was based was not comprehensive. It pictured Nebraska as the "vacation blank spot" of the nation's mind.

"I'll have some very important things to say on Nebraska's tourist and vacation promotion," he said.

Marvel Seeking 5-Year Projection Of State Spending

Sen. Richard D. Marvel, chairman of the Legislative Council budget study committee, said he has asked a five-year projection of state government expenditures be prepared.

Each state agency will be asked to assist in the project. The information will be coordinated by Legislative Fiscal Analyst John Quigley.

Marvel said he will use the date in a series of appearances across Nebraska in coming months. He said the information will also be helpful to the next Legislature.

The Hastings legislator is not a candidate for political office this year.

Burbach Opens Omaha Quarters

Omaha (UPI) — State Sen. J. W. Burbach of Crofton, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, will open his Omaha campaign headquarters Tuesday at 4932 S. 24th St.

His Omaha campaign managers are state Sens. Eugene T. Mahoney, William Skarda Jr., and Dale L. Payne, Eddie Galus and Mrs. Victoria Ciurej.

Gerdes Claims Taxes Key Issue

"Any candidate who is running for governor who says taxes are not the most important issue this year is either not thinking or is trying to dodge the question," in the view of State Sen. George Gerdes of Alliance.

The vice chairman of the Legislature's Budget Committee said in Lincoln that "anything we do in education, on the state or local level, depends upon what funds we have available. And that goes right back to taxes."

Gerdes, a Republican, said he considers the candidate who talks about issues to be the strongest candidate.

Aerospace Issues, Electronics Strong

New York (AP) — Aerospace issues, electronics and airlines were strong as the stock market pushed ahead to another gain Monday. Trading was quite active.

Volume was 8.64 million shares compared with 7.76 million Friday.

The Dow Jones industrial average ended the day with a rise of 2.67 at 932.62. This was well below its best reading at noon when it was up 6.63.

The blue chips that make up the Dow industrials put on a rugged performance even though the indicator was jogged upward by selective gains. General Motors lost 1¼, American Telephone ⅛, U.S. Steel ⅛, Standard Oil New Jersey ¾ and Du Pont 2.

The glamor side of the market once more was the most impressive. Motorola gained 10¼, G. D. Seadle 6½, Texas Gulf Sulphur 5¾, Collins Radio 3¾, Continental Airline 4⅛, Zenith 4 and Boeing 4½.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed unchanged at 344.8 with industrials up .8, rails up 2, and utilities off 1.1.

Of 1,413 issues traded, 699 rose and 517 fell. New highs for the year totaled 70 and new lows 63.

Eleven of the 15 most active stocks advanced, three declined and Chrysler was unchanged.

Benguet was the most active issue, off ¼ at 2½ on 332,800 shares as profits were taken on its fast run-up of last week.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 5.97 million shares compared with 4.84 million Friday.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. Treasury bonds rose.

Leaders Seek To Keep Negro Colleges

Washington (AP) — Should the predominantly Negro colleges of the South, criticized by some as perpetuating segregation, be closed?

The question drew an emphatic "no" Monday from White and Negro leaders of the United Negro College Fund. But, perhaps significantly, almost every speaker felt compelled to address himself to that question.

Dr. Earl J. McGrath of the Institute of Higher Education at Columbia University teachers college, said the question must be asked whether the Negro colleges "have a defensible purpose in an integrated society," whether they may "prolong a social purpose which as a nation we have decided to eradicate."

McGrath said his conclusion, after long study, is that "they must be physically preserved."

"It would be folly to close any of them," he said. "Instead of closing them we ought to improve them."

Leroy Collins, former governor of Florida and now undersecretary of commerce, said, "The question is sometimes raised as to whether these institutions are not practicing reverse segregation.

"Well, many of these colleges have white students enrolled and white faculty members. Most would welcome additional white students . . .

The United Negro College Fund, which held its annual convocation here, is made up of 33 fully accredited independent colleges in 11 states of the South. Its fund-raising goal for this year is $5.2 million, up about 25% from last year.

McGrath said the goal over the next 10 years should be $500 million and "nobody ought to gasp."

Union OKs Federal Arbitration

Newark, N.J. (UPI) — A union under pressure from the White House to lower its wage demands voted unanimously Monday night to support an agreement that would send its contract requests to government labor officials for binding arbitration.

By voice vote union members approved the pact 1200 to 0. Union leaders had predicted approval by the membership.

It was the first time that the White House has publicly succeeded in forcing a union to roll back its wage demands since presidential wage guide lines of a 3.2% increase were instituted.

It marked one of the very rare occasions in the history of collective bargaining that a union has left it up to state and federal labor officials to arbitrate a wage dispute.

The unusual agreement was hammered out last Friday by Peter W. Weber, president of Local 825 of the International Operation Engineers, and the Associated General Contractors of New Jersey.

NOTED INDIAN AG EDUCATOR HERE ON VISIT

A noted agricultural educator from India began a 4-day stay in Lincoln Monday with a look at plant science research in progress at the University of Nebraska East campus.

Dr. K. C. Naik, vice chancellor of the University of Agricultural Sciences, Mysore State, Bangalore, India, met with NU Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin Monday morning, followed by a tour of horticulture and forestry greenhouses and talks with University researchers.

Tuesday, Dr. Naik and his wife are scheduled to meet Gov. Frank Morrison and tour the State Capitol Building. Dr. Naik's trip to the United States is sponsored by the Rockefeller Foundation.

Samuel Clemen's Belt Discovered

Virginia City, Nev. (AP) — A leather money belt with the faded inked inscription "Samuel L. Clemens 1862" has been found in the attic of a Virginia City home.

That was the year Clemens came to Virginia City to be a reporter on the newspaper Territorial Enterprise. The following year he first used the pen name, Mark Twain.

HAROLD PROCTOR
says
TAKE THE "RAPP"
farm and love it as they have through the years! Mr. Rapp built this nice home and brought his bride here. An addition was built on when the son married to make this an eight room, 1 story home with two kitchens! Mrs. Rapp has lived here as a widow for 7 years but will now sell and move to town. We just sold 2 unimproved quarters across and down the road. With this big house and fine barn included we feel $300 per acre to be reasonable Since it is only about 10 MINUTES FROM LINCOLN we suggest someone buy the home, barn and 40 acres of pasture (pond could be built) and we will sell the 120 acres of cropland to a farmer. Better hurry on this one. LOWELL RENKEN is in charge and he sold the last one FAST! Phone 434-2226. If it rings busy try 488-9574 or 488-5721 or 477-3231. During office hours 477-7735, will reach:

A fair spring day. It looks like March will go out like a lamb as the saying goes.

The magazine Newsweek has a many-paged study of teen-agers. Their tastes and incredible buying power. For several years I made a study of teen-agers — just one teen-ager. It wore me out.

"Father can I have this? Daddy can I have that?"

The incredible buying power, which Newsweek discovered with awe, is siphoned out of the old man's pistol pocket.

I cannot recall being such a heller in those crisper salad days. I did not drive a bomb so fast that insurance companies would not insure me.

For the simple reason that 35 mph was all I could get out of that Model-T. And that was flying! Also we didn't carry insurance. Why insure a car that only cost $40? And whose bent fenders you straightened by hand?

You put one foot on the tire, grabbed the fender and lifted.

Long hair and sloppy dress is a mark of today's child. And looking at the crop around our drive-ins, I can say it would never have been tolerated in my day.

We wore our hair long on top, short on the sides. We plastered it flat with a goop called sta-comb. Sometimes we used another goop that made it stiff as a board.

We wore clean shirts. But our corduroy pants were never washed. Never! In fact when we had to buy a new pair, we took them out and rubbed them in the dirt until they were wearable.

"But those pants are absolutely filthy!" my mother used to say. She wanted to wash them.

I just gave her a look. What was the use of explaining anything to people. You just couldn't make them understand.

☆ ☆ ☆

The dances today are harmless but have no meaning at all — as all sober citizens realize. No rhythm. Crazy music. Etc.

(The latest I saw demonstrated is "shotgun." It draws its name from the position of the jerking arms as though holding a gun.)

Well, we did a thing called "The Charleston." If we were not the Pepsi generation, we were a peppy bunch. Legs flying every whichaway.

After awhile we developed "The Big Apple."

And by and by, "The Lambeth Walk." You strolled side by side, jerking one thumb over the shoulder and saying, "Hey!"

There was one school dance each year where you invited your parents.

I can remember mine dancing. They were doing a waltz. I thought I would never recover from the shame of it. (But I did.)

☆ ☆ ☆

Peace and what to do in Viet Nam and the fate of the atomic world worries the teen-ager of today. They are concerned. And we are concerned with the way they go about it.

A friend said to me recently: "I can't remember that we had so little respect for our parents, do you?"

I don't. As I stroll down memory lane, it seems to me I didn't even think about respect. I just wondered how anybody could get that old without learning a few simple facts of life.

Like, "But it isn't that cold! Nobody wears sweaters to football games!"

After awhile we edged out of our teens. The class valedictorian assured our assembled fathers and mothers that we were prepared to take over. Straighten out the mess they'd got the world into.

It was quite a relief to us. But what I know today is what a relief it must have been to our parents.
